Clashes erupt in Lebanon mountains

BEIRUT (R) - Fighting broke out Saturday between a Christian and a brusim village in the mountains above Beirut, threatening an eight week-old truce arranged by the Israeli troops that con-thal the area. Lebanese police sources, who reported the fighting. had so details of any casualties. They said the villages involved were Souq Al Gharb, a stronghold of the "Lehanese Forces" Christian militia, and Aitat, held by Druze Muslim militiamen. The mountains above Beirut were the scene of increasingly frequent and Berce clashes between Christians and Druze from soon after Israel's invasion of Lebanon last June until the ceasefire on

King receives Iraqi message

AMMAN (Petra) — His Majesty King Hussein Saturday received a message from Iraqi President Saddam Hussein dealing with developments in the region, the situation in the Iraq-Iran war and Jordanian-Iraqi relations. The message was delivered to King Hussein at Al Nadwa Palace by Iraqi Foreign Minister Tareq Aziz who arrived in Amman Saturday and later left for home. Mr. Aziz was met and seen off at the airport by Foreign Minister Marwan Al Qasem and Iraq's Amhassador to Jordan Ibrahim Shuja' Sul-

Volume 8 Number 2229

AMMAN, SUNDAY APRIL 3, 1983 — JUMADA AL THANI 20, 1403

Price: Jordan 100 fils; Syria 1 pound; Lebanon 1 pound; Saudi Arabia 1.50 riyals; UAE 1.50 dirhams; Great Britain 25 pence

Arab truck hits landmine in Israel

TEL AVIV (R) - A truck carrying Arabs in southwest Israel struck a mine Saturday 32 kilometres east of the Egyptian border, an Israeli military spokesman said. There were no injuries in the incident. Security forces found a second mine in the area.

Pakistani minister arrives in S.Arabia

BAHRIAN (R) - Pakistani Interior Minister Mahmood A. Harone arrived in Saudi Arabia Satunday for a 10-day official visit which he said was aimed at stregthening security cooperation between the two countries. The Saudi Press Agency said Mr. Harour was welcomed at Riyadh by Saudi Interior Minister Prince Nayef Ibn Abdul Aziz and senior ministry officials. Saudi press reports said Mr. Haroon would follow up talks on security cooperation between Saudi Arabia and Pakistan which began when Prince Nayef visited Pakistan in January.

New chief for Allied Forces in S.Europe

BRUSSELS (R) — U.S. Adm. William Small has been appointed commander-in-chief of Allied Forces in Southern Europe effective next month, the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation's (NATO) supreme commander in Europe said Saturday, Gen. Bernard Rogers said in a statement that Adm. Small would succeed Adm. William Crowe, who becomes commander-in-chief of the Pacific in June.

Dublin frees rebel suspects

DUBLIN (R) - Eleven men arriblin bar on Thursday as suspected members of the outlawed Irish National Liberation Amy have been freed after questoring a police spokesman said Saturday. Police had said earlier they believed several members of the guerrilla group's leadership is a Marxist offshoot of the Irisb Republican Army and both are fighting to end British rule in Northem Ireland.

Spain releases Tehran-bound arms

MADRID (R) - A consignment of Argentine arms held by Spanish customs for more than three months left for Tehran last Wednesday, customs officials said Saturday. The cargo--5.(kit) pistols and 60 anti-aircraft guns--was held by customs after its arrival bere on Dec. 20 aboard an Aernlineas Argentinas Boeing 747 Officials said the original flight documents listed the cargo as "machinery and spares."

Defector betrayed expelled Soviets'

ONDON (R) — Two Sovici dipomats and a journalist ordered ont of Britain this week, appmently for spying, were betrayed by a high-ranking Soviet defector. Press reports said Saturday. Briain's Press Association news ageacy quoted official sources as sayog Vladimir Kuzichkin, a former devict vice-consul and int-ligence officer in Iran who def-9sted to Britain Jast October, had provided British intelligence with but of names.

INSIDE

- Soviets adopt new energysaving measures, page 2 Agricultural survey launched in Jordan, page 3
- Reagan's ABM plan creates controversy among aides, page 4 Will Gonzalez be able to
- manoeuvre Spain into EEC?, page 5
- Borg will be back, King Says, page 6

 Block favours early grain
- talks with Soviets, page 7 Moseow rejects interim thissiles agreement offer,

Hussein, Arafat hold intensive. 'positive' talks

By Lamis Andoni Special to the Jordan Times

AMMAN — His Majesty King Hussein and Palestine Liberation Organisation (PLO) Chairman Yasser Arafat held several hours of talks on Saturday, and it was decided that the Higher Jordanian-Palestinian committee, jointly chaired by Mr. Arafat and Prime Minister Mudar Badran, would meet this morning to continue the discussions aimed at reaching agreement on joint political moves by Jordan and the PLO.

Neither side disclosed results of Saturday's meetings, but PLO officials said the discussions centred on current Jordan-PLO relations and moves simed at a joint strategy to confront the current situation in the Middle East.

Jordan and the PLO have been holding intensive talks on a proposed confederation between Jordan and a freed West Bank and Gaza, but no decision has yet been taken to form a joint team to negotiate with the Americans on the hasis of U.S. President Ronald Reagan's Middle East peace plan announced last September.

King Hussein's talks with Mr. Arafat on Saturday included two closed sessions, and the King hosted a luncheon for the Palestinian team which included several PLO Executive Committee members as well as the deputy commander of the PLO forces, Mr. Khalil Al Wazir (Abu Jihad).

meeting with the King, the PLO chairman described the talks as "positive." but apparently postooned a statement on the outcome scheduled for late Saturday night after his second meeting with the King.

Abu Jihad later told the Jordan Times that the talks were "indeed being held in a positive atmosphere" and denied reports that PLO-Jordan ties were strained.

Abu Jihad reiterated the PLO's position that the talks are based on resolutions adopted by the Arab Fez summit held in Morocco last September, and said that no decisions have been reached on "specific issues" such as the formation of a Jordanian-Palestinian joint negotiating team. "Decisions on specific issues will be referred to a future Arab summit to be held in Morocco," he said.

Another aide to Mr. Arafat told the Jordan Times that this summit is expected to be held in Fez in the period between the 14th and 17th of this month.

The Jordanian position reflected in official statements and declaration states that Jordan is not ready to enter any peace negotiations without an active Palestinian participation. In a television interview last Thursday, His Royal Highness Crown Prince Hassan said that Jordan needs a very clear position on the part of the Arab states as well as from the Palestinians themselves. The Crown Prince also indicated that even without PLO and Arab backing, it would be very difficult for Jordan to enter peace negotiations until Israel made some moves lowards leaving the occupied Arab territories as called for by the United Nations many years ago. "Without that", he was quoted as saying, "just to enter into negotiations with the Israelis controlling today over 40 per cent, 50 per cent, of the land and resources of the West Bank is sheer suicide. politically, economically and soc-

The Palestinians, on their part seem determined to adhere to the Arab peace plan and stressed in statements given prior to Mr. Arafat's visit here their strong doubts about U.S. willingness and ability to implement the Reagan plan.

A PLO spokesman, Imad Sbakour, said Saturday that a ban imposed by the American administration on the sale of F-16s to Israel while its stroops occupied parts of Lebanon "does not represent a substantial change in the American policy". This step, he said, came too late and is not enough to restore the lost American credibility in the Middle East. .

Mr. Shakour, who is a political adviser to Mr. Arafai, also said that the meeting between the King and the PLO chairman "constituted a constructive beginning". He did not elaborate.

Earlier, one Palestinian official told the Jordan Times that the first meeting between the King and Mr. Arafat "was directed at the clarification of stands adopted by both sides on the current issues". But the second closed session, held on Saturday evening, was indeed "very important", he said.

"Those who were bering on the collapse of the Jordanian-Palestinian relations lost," this PLO official, who did not want to be identified, told the Jordan

Saudi Arabia welcomes ban on F-16 sales to Israel...

BAHRAIN (R) — Saudi Arabia Saturday welcomed President Reagan's declaration that the U.S. will not ship 75 combat planes to Israel while its troops occupied part of Lebanon.

Saudi Information Minister Mohammad Abdo Yamani said the move was an effective and positive step to force Israel to withdraw its troops from Lebanon. the Saudi Press Agency reported. President Reagan said in Los Angeles on Thursday that American F-16 fighter bombers could not be sent to Israel until its troops withdrew from Lebanon. Delivery of the planes was held up when Israel invaded Lebanon last June.

Dr. Abdo Yamani said the kingdom hoped the U.S. would take other positive steps that would contribute to the return of security and stability in the region and give the Palestinians their right to return to their home.

...as U.S. Jewish leaders urge Reagan to reconsider decision

NEW YORK (R) - U.S. Jewish leaders called on President Reagan Friday to reconsider his decision to hinge delivery of 75 F-16 comhat planes to Israel on its withdrawal from Lebanon. Henry Siegman, executive director of the American Jewish Congress said: "It is particularly puzzling that this administration should invoke alleged congressional restraints against a reliable and democratic ally, Israel, while it flouts the will of Congress in supplying arms to authoritarian regimes in Central America."

Mr. Reagan announced his decision Thursday in response to questions after a speech on arms control in California, tying it to a law that U.S. weapon exports should only be used for defence. It was the first time the administration had publicly given a reason for delaying delivery of the planes since last June.

His Majesty King Hussein receives Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat prior to their talks nn Saturday (photo by Ynusef Al Allan).

Lebanon talks focus on 'joint team'

Israeli negotiators are discussing joint inspection tours of South Lebanon as a way to break the deadlock in talks on an Israeli withdrawal from Lebanon.

But statements by officials in rall Middle East peace, still hopes

Israel can be persuaded to modify its hardline stance in time for solid progress this year, an Egyptian

The hope rests on Jordan and the Palestinian leadership joining the peace process in time to stimulate the United States into renewed action, said Dr. Boutros

Ghali, Minister of State for For-

In an interview with Reuters be reiterated Egypt's fear that peace moves might become stalled by the onset of campaigning this year for the U.S. presidential election

He said an essential prerequisite for real peace neg-ouation was progress on wit-bdrawal of Israeli troops from Lebanon and participation in talks

BAHRAIN (R) -- Iranian Dep-uty Prime Minister Mirza Taheri

will attend crisis talks next week

on a Gulf oil slick which bas begun polluting the beaches of Qatar, the Iranian ambassador to Kuwait

The ambassador, Ali Sbams

Ardekani, told Reuters by telephone that Mr. Taheri, head of Iran's environmental protection agency, would take part in a high-level meeting in Kuwait on fig-bting the slick, caused by oil gushing from damaged Iranian wells.

the wells in a dangerous Gulf war combat zone and environmental experts are scheduled to hold preparatory talks on Monday in Bah-

As the first oil to hit the Arabian

Peninsula side of the Gulf began washing ashore in Qatar, local press reports said a U.S. space shuttle being launched on Monday would be used to flash pictures of the pollution to the region's gov-

A senior Qatari environmental official, Hajar Ahmad Hajar, told

Reuters in Doha that small, thin patches from the slick came ashore on the state's north-east coast

An estimated 250,000 barrels of thick, black oil pouring from two damaged wells in Iran's Nowruz oilfield at the head of the Gulf has created a slick covering about

7,500 square miles dotted over

(Continued on page 3)

ernments.

miles from land.

Repair crews are waiting to cap

said Saturday.

Oil slick talks

leader said Saturday.

eign Affairs.

haps forget it. It was an April Fool's joke.

BEIRUT (R) - Lebanese and two sides have differing interpretations of the proposal and still disagree on the future role in South Lebanon of renegade Leb-anese Maj, Saad Haddad and his Israeli-sponsored miliua.

Disputes over what "security" Lebanon and Israel show that the measures should be taken in South

"The U.S. position is that if Jordan and the Palestinians announced participation in the peace process then this would encourage

Washington to do something. It also would encourage Jewish org-anisations in the United States. In turn this would reinforce the position of moderates in Israel. And it would diminish the role and imp-

'If you add all these elements

there would still be a chance of

Dr. Ghali, speaking four years after the signing of Egypt's U.S.-sponsored Camp David treaty with Israel, said there was "great frustration" in Egypt at lack of progress towards a comprehensive

(Continued on page 3)

Argentina marks

BUENOS AIRES (R) - Argentina Saturday marked quietly its invasion of the Falkland (Mal-

April 2 last year, stressing that

Argentine sovereignty over the islands should be achieved by peaceful negotiations.

(Continued on page 3)

ortance of the radicals.

Keep digging, gentlemen

Those readers who have started a search for more information on ancient links between the peoples of Jordan and the Americas, after reading yesterday's Jurdan Times stury on the subject, should per-

However, the Jordan Times will not itself give up the search for the missing links between us in Jordan and the peoples of the Americas, given their importance. And we promise to announce to you any new discoveries as soon as they are made. Have a good day, everynne.

Cairo hopes peace talks

CAIRO (R) — Egypt. frustrated by Jordan and the Palestine Libhy lack of movement towards ove-went on:

takeoff.

to open Monday Falklands war

will progress in 1983

Lebanon have been blocking agreement on an Israeli withdrawal for several weeks. Israeli forces invaded Lebanon last June with the declared aim of striking at Palestine Liberation

(Continued on page 3)

Omani leader leaves after four-day visit

AMMAN (J.T.) — Sultan Qaboos Ibn Sa'id of Oman left Amman Saturday at the end of his four-day visit to Jordan. His Majesty King Hussein was at the airport to bid him farewell as were Prime Minister Mudar Badran, Royal Court Chief Ahmad Al Lawzi, Court Minister Amer Khammash, Armed Forces Commanderin-Chief Lt.-Gen. Sharif Zaid Ihn Shaker and Oman's ambassador to Jordan, Abdullah Al Balloushi, the Jordanian News Agency.

During the visit, Sultan Qaboos held talks with King Hussein on ways of bolstering bilateral cooperation between Jordan and at King Hussein Medical Centre. He also toured a number of military positions and archaeological sites in the country.

Together with King Hussein. Sultan Qaboos inaugurated the Queen Alia Heart Institute and the Royal Rehabilitation Centre

W.Bank protests continue

OCCUPIED JERUSALEM (R) - Palestinian demonstrators in the occupied West Bank and East Jerusalem Saturday threw stones at Israeli vehicles and burned tyres after two days of relative quiet in the occupied Arab territories.

Security sources said school pupils gathered near the entrance to Jerusalem's Haram Al Sharif. site of the Al Aqsa and Dome of the Rock mosques but were dispersed by Israeli police and border patrol troopers.

In Hebron, south of Jerusalem, demonstrators burned tyres and put stone barriers across roads. Rocks smashed the windows of a bus belonging to the Israeli-backed Arab Village League in the Hebron area, the sources said. but there were no injuries.

Other demonstrations were reported in the village of Dura near Hebron, as well as in Nablus. the West Bank's largest city.

Israeli troops enforced curfews in the Nablus marketplace and in the Balatta and 'Ain Beit-Elma refugee camps near the city, the sources added.

Jordan condemns destruction of Jaffa mosque

AMMAN (J.T.) - Jordan Saturday strongly condemned the destruction of Hassan Bek Mosque in Jaffa, an occupied Palestinian city since 1948, and said it was "part of Zionist plans against Islamic and Arab property in the occupied territories.

Reports from the occupied territories indicate that an explosive device was planted in the mosque in Jaffa which exploded Saturday morning bringing down the minaret and causing extensive damage to the mosque. Also on Saturday, unidentified persons set fire to a mosque in the Sheikh Jarrah area in Arab Jerusalem.

inst Islamic and Arab property in the occupied territories and is no less than the arson attempts at Al Agsa and Sheikh Jarrah mosques in Arab Jerusalem," the Ministry of Awgaf and Islamic Affairs said in a statement carried by the Jordanian News Agency, Petra.

The Jordanian statement said that the old dilapidated Hassan Bek Mosque had been neglected for n long time and the Arab and Muslim inbabitants of Jaffa were unable to restore it due to their 'deteriorating economic and social conditions brought to bear

"The collapse of the mosque by an explosion is to be regarded as that the Israeli occupation autpart of Zionist plans directed aga- horities have also blocked the Arab territories."

channelling of funds to the Muslim community living in the occupied territories

"The World Islamic League was one of the many organisations that had expressed willingness to finance the restoration of the mosque but the Israeli authorities had prevented the transfer of funds for the repair work." the statement said. The Israelis," it added, "continued to stall and waited for the appropriate time for demolishing the mosque."

It appealed to world orgisations and Arab and Islamic nations to put an end to Israel's "aggressive policies against religious shrines in the occupied

Mubarak calls for speed in peace efforts

PEKING (R) - Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak said Saturday measures must be taken in the next few weeks to reach a peace settlement in the Middle

Speaking at a banquet in the Great Hall of the People on the first full day of his visit to Peking, he said all peoples in the Middle East should be guaranteed security and stability, and he called for a just solution to the Palestinian problem. He urged Israel to withdraw immediately from Lebanon "so that our Lebanese brothers can escape the misery forced upon them, and develop and build once

"The present atmosphere of tension, anxiety and fear confew weeks."

tinues to be dangerous." Mr. Mubarak said. "If each party involved is aware of this danger and sincerely hopes to work out a peaceful and historic grand reconciliation, we must take concrete steps in this direction in the next

In his speech, Prime Minister Zhao Ziyang condemned Israeli authorities "(who) obstinately maintain their aggressive stance. wantonly invade Arab countries and create long-term tension and instability in the Middle East."

He said Israel "is unreasonably delaying its withdrawal from Lebanon, continues to build new sertlements on the West Bank of the Jordan and places serious obstacles in the way of a solution to

(Continued un page 3)

French ferry blaze kills 1, injured 26

PENZANCE, England (R) -Fire broke out on a French ferry taking 700 people on Easter trips to Ireland Saturday, killing one man and injuring 26 other pas-sengers, police said.

The blaze swept through 60 sle-eping berths aboard the 5,713-ton vinas) Islands one year ago, with few outward reminders of the subsequent disastrous war with Bri-Armorique before it was brought under control after a two-hour But several political leaders and struggle, said the owners, Brittany newspapers criticised the decision of the military government to seize the Falklands by force on Helicopters lifted off six of the injured, suffering from burns, smoke mbalation or shock, and flew them to a hospital in this Cornish town. One was described as seriously injured.

They also protested that the Police said the other 20 injured Argentine people had still not were taken ashore by lifeboat been told the full truth about why after the ferry limped into Mounts Bay, off Penzance.
The unnamed dead man,

French like most of the passengers, died of aspbyxiation. Brittany Ferries said in a statement.

The Armorique was 40 miles northwest of Land's End, Cornwall, on a trip from Roscoff in France to Cork in the Irish Republic when fire broke our soon after dawn. The ferry flashed a call for help and lifeboats from four towns, helicopters from two bases and an air force jet raced to the rescue.

The ferry radioed that many of the injured had serious burns, the coast guard said. Lloyds Shipping Agency quoted a message as saying 20 people needed oxygen equipment.

Three doctors were on board and a fourth was flown in by helicopter from Brawdy in South

One of the injured said a British doctor and a French doctor repeatedly went into the smoke-filled area of the ship to bring out the injured, including a young girl, Police said earlier the 700 pas-

second ferry which pulled alongside but the plan was later dropped as the Armorique was able to reach port on its own. "It was the biggest air sea rescue sengers would be taken aboard a mounted this year," said a spokesman for the coast guard at Falmouth, near Penzance, which coordinated the operation.

A police forensic team went aboard the ferry to begin an investigation of the fire, which police sources said was thought to have started in a linen room.

Hanoi blames China, U.S. and Thailand for latest flare-up

BANGKOK (R) - Hanoi Radio Saturday blamed China, the United States and Thailand for renewed fighting along the Thai-

Kampucbean border. In its first comment on the fighting, the radio also said the Heng Samrin government in Phnom Penh had every legal right to hit back against insurgents seeking a and larger patches were only 10 return of the "genocidal Pol Pot miles from land clique", Hanol's term for the Khmer Rouge Communists ousted in the Vietnamese invasion of Kampuchea in December 1978. A commentary monitored in Bangkok said the root cause of the conflict was the collusion of Peking, Washington and Bangkok with the Khmer Rouge to oppose the People's Republic of Kampucbea, set up by Hanoi as a substitute to the Khmer Rouge's Chinese-backed government. The Vietnamese-backed government is recognised only by Soviet bloc countries and India. Its rival, now a coalition led by Prince Norodom Sihanouk, has Kampuchea's seat in the U.N. Vietnam maintains an estimated 180,000 troops in Kampuchea to bolster the Heng Samrin government against about 40,000 Communist and non-Communist insurgents.

Radio Hanoi said Thailand bad to accept responsibility for the present tension. "If Thailand had not opened its borders to the Pol

Pot remnants and other reactionaries this situation would never have happened."

Thailand also came in for blame in an unusual dispatch from the Vietnam News Agency (VNA) which published what it said were details of a taped statement made by France's Foreign Minister Claude Cheysson 10 reporters in Bangkok a week ago.

The agency quoted Mr. Cheysson as saying that the reality of the Kampuchean situation was Thailand's willingness to allow the guerrillas sanctuary in its territory and to allow Chinese arms to reach them through Thailand. VNA also reported that the situation on Vietnam's border with civilians, page 8

China had been tense over the last two weeks with sporadic "armed provocations' taking place from March 22 until last Thursday, the day Vietnamese-led troops hit Phnom Chat, a major Khmer Rouge base on Kampuchca's frontier with Thailand.

Squads of Chinese troops had crossed into Vietnam, wantonly firing on villagers, but had been "punished and chased hack," the news agency said.

Indiscriminate shelling and small arms exchanges were also reported in five border provinces and a civilian was killed, it added.

ASEAN urges Hanoi to stop killing

By Ray Dafter

MOSCOW - Urgency has been injected into the Soviet Union's quest for improved energy conservation. The reason, paradoxically, lies in falling oil prices. Other parts of the world, rejoicing in cheaper energy, may be tempted to relax their conservation efforts. In the U.S., for instance, there are already signs that motorists are returning to bigger cars.

But for the Soviet Union falling prices are a nightmare. Energy exports -- mainly oil and natural gas --provide 811 per cent of its hard currency earnings. In order to maintain its external income, the Sovier Union must increase the volume of its exports. This, in turn, means that along with its Comecon partners it must be more frugal in its own domestic consumption of energy, especially

The fall in the price of the Soviet Urals crude provides a barometer of the problem. Early in 1981, the delivered price into Northern Europe was $38.90 a barrel. These days, the going rate has been nearer $27. The Soviet net export of oil has risen accordingly. from about 1.1. million harrels a day in 1981 to about 1.5 million b/d at present.

The Soviet Union has little prospect of boosting its oil production which, at 12.3 million b/d, is already by far the biggest in the world. So the government has three choices: To reduce even further its exports to other Communist countries; to switch more of its energy use from oil to gas. coal and nuclear power; or to push even barder for energy savings. Fuel substitution and conservation are the routes being fol-

Soveit plans for the current 1080-85 period call for energy savings equivalent to about 110 million-120 million tonnes of oil. approaching 10 per cent of total primary energy consumption in recent years. Recent official statements suggest the Soviet Union is hoping to achieve savings of over 130 million tonnes of oil equ-

The five-year plan states that half of the savings could be achiesed by improving efficiency in the transportation and production of fuel and electricity. For example, engineers are developing a large diameter pipeline designed to transport natural gas at 100 times atmospheric pressure, some 33 per cent higher than present

Mr. Nikolai Belyi, head of the Ministry of Gas Industry's foreign relations department, says that the high pressure pipeline should reduce the energy loss in transporting gas from Siberia to western Russia

hy about 4-5 per cent. Energy officials also point our that the most efficient electricity generating stations can now produce one kilowatt hour of eleetricity from 220 grammes of coalequivalent, compared with a commonplace efficiency of hetween 300 and 350 grammes per kwh a decade ago. On the other hand, there is evidence to suggest that power station operators are becoming increasingly frustrated with the lost quality of coal they are expected to burn. This must be impairing the efficiency drive. Nevertheless, the message is unmistakeable. "The State Planning Committee is counting kopwrites Leonid Koreney. economics commentator for the Novosti press agency. This year.

he says, the Soviet Union is to toughen further" the austerity regime in its economy," largely through the saving of energy and other ray materials. Soviet newspapers are full of stories about savings that have been or could be achieved. Factories are festooned with slogans. exhorting workers to be careful intheir use of energy.

Limited Soviet options for saving energy

But observers in the West, while recognising the scope for savings, are sceptical about the Soviet Union's ability to achieve its aims. The country is faced with an enormous systemic problem," says Jonathan Stern, a consultant specialising in Soviet energy for the Royal Institute for International Affairs, "We in the West have found that exhortation doesn't work, that it is the price mechanism which matters.

The Soviet Union has limited scope to encourage conservation through higher fuel prices, but some sieps have been taken. Last year the authorities began introducing increases in wholesale energy prices aimed at reflecting full exploration and production costs. It marked the first major. change since 1967. Manufacturers were told they would not be allowed to pass on the higher fuel costs to consumers. It is still not clear how effective this programme has been.

Petrol prices have also doubled in the past two to three years to a point where a litre can now cost about 40 kopeks ($0.53), about the same as in the U.K. But not all petrol is obtained at filling stations, as a report on Soviet energy policy to the joint economic committee of the U.S. Congress pointed out in the summer of 1981.

ft reported that there was a flourishing illegal market in petrol sales, a view which seemed to he confirmed by the Sovietskaia Rossia newspaper in 1979. An article claimed that only 57 per cent of the petrol consumed by private cars in Rostov Oblast was sold through filling stations.

But the major hindrance to the Soviet Union's conservation eff-. ort, according to many Western energy authorities, is the central planning system. Often targets have little to do with scientific principles: instead they are usually fixed through the familiar bargaining processes between enterprises and overseeing agencies.

Even then, the targets are often set aside for more urgent considerations. "If a manager has a choice between meeting his production target or fulfilling his conduction." says Mr. Stem.

Soveit industry, which conmselves to reduce fuel demand.

When I asked a manager of an energy-hungry iron ore complex in the Kursk region of Russia what steps employees could take to save energy he replied: "They can make sure they turn off the Options are not much wider in many of the Soviet homes. Soviet lions of gas-burining furnaces, fireplaces and sloves without any metering devices whatsoever. There is also said to be a shortage of controls on domestic heating systems.

Nevertheless, the Soviet Union is taking conservation seriously (more than some industrialised countries in the West) and it has notched up some achievements. During the 1976-8tt period, energy consumption grew at an annnal rate of about 3.4 per cent av against 5.1 per cent in the 1971-75 period. The International Energy Agency expects growth rates to be in the order of 2 to 2.8 per cent over the current decade.

What is evident, however, is that even greater savings could be achieved. This point is made on the back of assiduous research by the United Nations Economic servation obligations, ninc times Commission for Europe in a remout of 10 he will go for pro- arkably comprehensive report on energy prospects in Europe and North America.

sumes more energy than all the Analysing government est-other sectors combined, is reg-imates, the Economic Comarded as "highly wastefull" by the mission found that, for all its good International Energy Agency's conservation intentions, the Sov-World Outlook report published let Union was planning to increase last year. And yet, as Mr. Stern per capita energy consumption points out, with relatively little some 26 per cent more quickly replacement investment directed than Europe and North America at industry to make the man-combined, But, even more telling. ufacturing process more efficient. the commission concluded that by workforces can do very little the- using "current available best tochnology" the Soviet Union could cut its expected level of energy consumption in the year 2000 by a full 34 per cent.

Such a reduction must remain in the realm of wishful thinking given the institutional barriers that frustrate the Soviet Union's" Save it"

- Financial Times News Features

New Swazi premier may help regain territories lost to S. Africa

By Richard Williams Reuter

MBABANE. Swaziland - The map of Africa could be changed as a result of the dismissal of Prime Minister Prince Mahandla Dlamini, an appointee and nephew of the late King Sobhuza, and his replacement by a more traditionalist

Bobbuza, who for over 60 years dominated the politics of this small country wedged between white-ruled South Africa and Marxist Mozamhique, died last August and his senior widow the Ndlovukazi -- the great sheelephant - now rules in his place.

The late king maintained a ski-Iful balancing act throughout his reign between traditionalists and modernisers in Africa's last semi-, feudal monarchy.

But since his death, political observers here say there has been persistent squabbling between chief Mahandla's supporters and the Ligogo, a strongly traditional inner circle of royal elders and tribal chiefs.

What part the queen -- a reclusive figure who is rarely seen in public -- played in Prince Mabandla's dismissal is unknown. But diplomatic sources point to his replacement as proof that the conservative faction is now firmly m control of the Liquido.

In Johannesburg South African Foreign Minister Roelof "Pik" Botha said the dismissed prime minister had arrived unexpectedly with his family in South Africa.

Prince Bhekimpi Dlamini, the new prime minister, known chiefly as a staunch supporter of the monarchy, which has an almost mystical aura to the cural peasants who make up more than 70 per cent of Swaziland's Stateast pop-

He is also a uning advocate of regaining lands that on formed part of the traditional realm of the Swazi monarchs but were lost to South Africa at the end of the last

The republic attempted last year to hand over two areas adjoining Swaziland that King Sobhuza had taid claim to for many decades.

The two areas are Kangwane, a crescent-shaped sliver of land on Swaziland's western border which is the homeland for the republic's 750,000 blacks of Swazi origin. and Ingwavuma, a coastal region near the Mozambique border.

But a public outcry by leaders of South Africa's white opposition and court action by the tribal homeland leaders involved have temporarily stopped the transfer of land while a government commission investigates the issue.

Prince Mabandla was known to be an opponent of the land deal. which would more than double the size of the kingdom and its population while bringing few tangible benefits.

Kangwane, like the other South African tribal homelands, is underdeveloped and overpopulated. Despite its beautiful and rugged mountain scenery, most people manage only to eke a living from the overgrazed infertile soil in contrast to Swaziland, whose anntral per capita income of 5546 k one of the highest in black Africa.

Political sources here say that Pretoria will not rush to re-enter negotiations with Swaziland until the government commission charecd with investigating the issue has made its final report

But they say that most of the inhabitanty of the disputed territories oppose the deal, which would strip them of their South African citizenship and work opportunities in the republic, while Swaziland's mainly agricultural economy could offer them few opportunities for employment.

The recovery in Ingwavoma and Kangwane was one of King Sobhuza's greatest ambitions and in a society where the monarch's word is still regarded as law, the Ligogo and government appear dedicated to tulfilling his wishes.

Outspoken in public against South Africa's policy of apartheid (racial segregation), they are nevertheless expected to negotiate privately with Pretoria for the return of the lands. However, the incorporation of a hostile population, bitterly opposed to the deal and no longer sympathetic to the traditional Swazi way of life, would present one of Africa's few surviving monarchies with problems which could bring about its downfal.

INTERNATIONAL WORLDWIDE

ipping & forwarding tair, land, sea)

" storage " packing " crating
" clearing " door-to-door service

1. 664090 Tlx. 22205 BESMCO JO

Agaba Tcl.5778

CROWN INTERNATIONAL EST. nman - Jabat Hussein Firas Circle [

ABSOLUTELY

The Best Optician in Town Optikos

Intercontinental Hotel

Moderate Prices Same Day Delivery

Tel. 42043

JIVING rooms aniña rooms bearaom sets wall units lighting fixtures tilderfor children feather uphaistery tox-free if applicable

tele63890 CIVIL DEFENCE STREET

The youthful style with an eye to the luture

EYES EXAMINED CONTACT LENSES

Amman, Tel. 42043

Tel. 37195, 22324-5-6-7-8-9 Tix. 21212, 21520, 21634 P.O. Box: 7806, AMMAN

OPTIKOS, SHAMI OPTOMETRISTS Aqaba, Tel. 4446

اوبتمترست ونظاراتى قانونى العقبة ت 2323

RESTAURANT CHINA

The first & best Chinese Restaurant in Jordan Ist Circle, Jabal Amman. near Ahliyyah Girls School

Open daily 12:00 - 3:30 p.m. 6:30 p.m. - Midnight Tel. 38968

ROMERO

The Italian Restaurant

12:30 - 3:30 6:30 - Midnight

Jabal Amman, 3rd Circle

Tel: 844227 Closed on Monday

MANDARIN CHINESE RESTAURANT

AMMAN AND. AQABA
Offer typical Chinese Mandarin cuisines and take away For quick lunch: I soup I main dish, 1 rice 1 tea or soft drink JD 2 Fully airconditioned

Amman-Tel. 661922 P.O. Box 9676 Wadi Sagra Road Near Holiday fnn Hotel

Aqaba Tel. 4633 P.O. Box 598 Amman Road Near the Main Circle

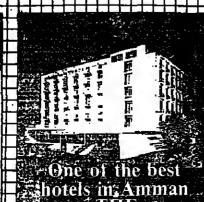

MIRAMAR HOTEL

Oriental Restaurant Best food you ever taste!

Aqaba, Tel. 4339/41 TLX 62275 JO

To advertise in this section call: 666320

Hotalun Sin Daily Luncheon Buffet Special Buffet On Friday Res.

AMBASSADOR

SABASTIA RESTAURANT KOREAN JAPANESE CHINESE EUROPEAN FOOD Tel. 665161/62/63 Ext. 93

NOW_ Every Night Except Mondays AL' ALALI Rooftop Night Club English Show Band The MAIN EVENT

THAT'S WHAT WE OFFER FOR AS MUCH AS $\frac{1}{2} A DINNAR YOU CAN HAVE ANY DRINK BETWEEN 6-7 P.M. DAILY AT THE GALAXY BAR

AQUAMARINA HOTEL-CLUB

ENIO) QUE NEW SUPER DEL'S DANGING-BUPPET-DENION BARBECUE MEAT OR FISH ME ZZE

ID SAMALL BYTLUDED E THEY PLACE WHERE YOU CAN END. RIK DIPORMATION AND RESERVA

AQABA TEL 4333/4/5/6

EUNFRENS

Book exhibition opens at Yarmouk University

IRBID (J.T.) — An Arab University Book Week opened at Yarmouk University's library Saturday by the university's President Adnan Badran.

The exhibition is intended to strengthen cultural cooperation among Arah universities, publishers and writers.

On display are publications and university references by Arah intellectuals, publishers and scientific and cultural institutions. Displayed publications come from 21 Arab universities incbuding those of Jordan as well as the Royal Scientific Society, the Iordanian Writers Association, the Jordan Academy of Arabic. and the ministries of culture and youth and tourism.

The Yarmouk University exhibition marks the start of this year's National Book Week which is being organised by Department nf Libraries, Documentation and National Archives (DLDNA). whose director general Dr. Ahmad Sharkas said that it is designed to highlight the importance of the book and the efforts of wri-

One of the major activities which features in this year's Natinnal Book Week he said is the Arab regional book exhibition in Irbid where publishers from varinus Arab countries are exbibiting their latest publications which will be offered at discounted prices. This exhibition is a forerunner of the annual International Book Fair planned to take place at Jerash during the Jerash Festival in summer, Dr. Sharkas said.

Also among this year's activities, there will be an official opening of a public library in Wadi Musa and the announcement of financial and technical assistance to a number of institutions and the launching of cultural programmes tbrough various information media, Dr. Sharkas added.

Ministry to build 200 housing units for teachers

AMMAN.(J.T.) - The Ministry of Education bas announced that it will build 200 housing units for teachers in remote areas at the cost of JD 3 million.

The announcement was made by Minister of Education Said Al Tal at a meeting which was attended also by Hamdullah Nabulsi Director of the Housing Corporation, which will be undertaking the construction of the units, and Mr. Zuhair Khouri. manager of the Housing Bank which will be supplying the necessary funds for the project.

Securing decent homes for teachers is of paramount importance. since proper homes are bound to enconrage teachers to stay in their jobs no matter how remote their areas are, the minister said at the

The Housing Bank will be offering 10-year loans to the teachers within an agreement to be worked out in cooperation with the Ministry of Education, the Housing Corporation and the Ministry of Finance, according to Mr. Khouri.

At the end of the meeting, a special committee was formed to follow up the preparation of the designs for the housing units and the implementation of the project. No date was yet fixed for the project's implementation.

Jordanian firm gets award

AMMAN (J.T.) - A Jordanian public shareholding company has been awarded the 6th Intemational Trophy for Export in view of its outstanding performance in Jordan and abroad.

The company, International Contracting and Investments-Co. (ICICO) was represented by its special ceremony in Athens where. dan and Iraq.

....

he received the award on behalf of the company. At the ceremony beld on March 28 other companies including the Arab Company for Pharmaceuticals and Medical Supplies received awards for outstanding exports.

ICICO currently bandles pro-President Fakhrt Abu Shakra at a jects worth JD 38 million in Jor-

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

The organisers of the European Spring Festival regret to announce that due to unexpected technical reasons, the "Langenhagen Brass Symphonic Orchestra" has to cancel the "gala concert" due for 8 p.m. Monday, 4th April, 1983 at the Royal Cultural Centre. Tickets for that concert will be treated as valid for either of the concerts taking place at 8 p.m. Tuesday 5th April, 1983 and Wednesday 6th April, 1983 at the Royal Cultural Centre.

Jerash concert, remains as schedule: (4 p.m., Sunday 3rd April, 1983)

LOCAL AGENT REQUIRED TO

SPONSOR FIRST CLASS IMPORTED MOTOR VEH-ICLE ACCESSORIES FROM A REPUTED EUR-OPEAN MANUFACTURER INVESTMENT PRE-FERABLE.

APPLY IN CONFIDENCE TO MR. PAREYN J. ROESBRUGGESTREET 19 8994 POPERINGE W-VL BELGIUM

-INVITATION TO BIDS-

Ministry of Education Projects Directorate announces invitation to bids for the following packages which are parts of the 3rd Educational Project:

1) Food production lab & dining area furniture. 2) Central heating & plumbing, supplies.

3) Equipments and instruments for medical labs. 4) Chemicals supplies.

5) Child care centre supplies. 6) Instrumentation supplies.

Companies and agents of manufacturers are invited to collect copies of these tenders from the Projects Directorate situated in Abdaly, behind Public Security Headquarters, against payment of JD 5 for each tender. starting April 2, 1983. Closing date will be May 15, 1983, 10.00 a.m.

Projects Director

Momani opens training course

AMMAN (Petra) - Minister of istry has drawn up a programme Municipal and Rural Affairs and the Environment Hassan Al Momani opened here Saturday a week-long training course on higher management.

The course organised by the Ministry of Municipal and Rural Affairs and the Environment in cooperation with Yarmouk University is attended by 20 mayors and beads of engineering sections at various municipalities in the

Mr. Momani said in a speech at the opening session that his minfor training personnel to man administrative jobs at municipalities and have prepared plans for raising the standard of mayors and helping them offer better services to their regions.

The minister thanked Yarmouk University for its cooperation in organising the course at its liaison office in Amman and pledged that his ministry will be willing to cooperate with other institutions that would offer information to help increase the effectiveness of mun-

Yarmouk University President Adnan Badran also made a speech in which he called for the introduction of modern administrative systems in planning and organising towns and cities in view of the fact that they are continually expanding and facing increasing problems.

The participants will be lectured on basic management concepts. local administration, principles of developing administrative systems and decision-making processes.

Argentina marks Falklands war anniversary

(Continued from page 1) the invasion was ordered and how the war was fought. A British sea-borne task force despatched to the South Atlantic following the invasinn recaptured the Falklands on June 14 after heavy fighting in which over 1,000 people were killed. The Argentine government has declared April 2 a national boliday to mark the short-lived seizure, but this year the celebrations have been postponed till April 4 so as not to clash with the Easter weekend.

The streets of Buenos Aires were almost empty Saturday, with only a handful of private organisations planning small gatherings to mark the date.

But newspapers and radio sta-tions made the anniversary their

6 killed,

by road accidents

ving and negligence.

seriously injured in an accident

between the third and fourth cir-

It said that the driver of a private car Shawqi Luza lost control over his car when one of the tyres burst which causing the car to veer off the road and bit an electricity

post and a motorcyclist Fathi and rushed to bospital.

escaped unburt.

Arab Air

Transport

Cargo joins

Union of Air

AMMAN (Petra) - Alia President and Chairman Ali Gha-ndour and Director-General of the Arab Air Cargo (AAC) Salah

Hussein returned to Amman from

Abu Dhabi Thursday after signing an agreement according to which the AAC would join the Arab

Union of Air Transport (AUAT).

The agreement was reached during the AUAT's general assembly

meetings concluded there Monday.

Participants in the meetings discussed cooperation among the Arab countries in air transport, prospects of increasing flights, and fixing air fares at a reasonable rate

Representatives of 16 Arab aviation companies and Int-

emational Air Transport Association (IATA) participated in the meetings.

38

39

40

41

to contribute to increased air tra-

Musa who was severely injured

Mr. Luza was killed while his child sitting beside him in the car

cles of Jabal Amman Friday.

91 injured

main news story and several political leaders commented on last year's war and its consequences.

Peronist leader Deolindo Bittel said Argentina's claim to the Falklands should be pursued strictly within the limits of the national constitution. He called on the ruling military junta to leave all future action to the next elected govemment.

The armed forces, which came to power in a 1976 coup, have promised to hold elections on Oct. 30 and return Argentina to democracy on Jan. 30, 1984,

Mr. Bittel, leader of Argentina's largest political party, went on to attack the military for their handling of the Falklands conflict.

There were errors, gross errors, and it is necessary for responsibilities to be assumed," he told reporters.

Argentina's largest circulation newspaper, Clarin, warned the military government against undertaking any further military action against the British-ruled isl-

"The patriotic claim to the Malvinas is not compatible with new adventures... those who occupied the stage a year ago, with their well known errors and crass ignorance, must give way to more sensible policies," Clarin said in an editorial.

The newspaper also printed three separate interviews with Gen. Leopoldo Galtieri, the former president who ordered the invasion, in which he said he would not have taken the step if he had known the United States would eventually support Britain.

town of Kiryat Shmona last Thursday. But a Lebanese government spokesman, while confirming that the proposal was on the table, denied that any agr-

Israeli officials gave a different picture of the plan.

Briefing foreign correspondents, they said Lebanon had agreed in principle to joint patrols which would tour the south day and night and would be authorised to engage any commandos

they encountered with weapons.

details still had to be settled and explained that the two sides were using different language to des-supervising teams. We call them joint patrols," one official said.

"The Lebanese call them joint cribe the scheme.

The officials allowed that some eement had been reached.

Lebanon talks continue

(Continued from page 1)

Organisation (PLO) bases. Lebanese military sources said the plan was for a Lebanese-Israeli-U.S. joint committee based inside Lebanon. Its Lebanese and Israeli members would AMMAN (J.T.) - According to a tour the south in Lehanese vehreport in the local press a total of six people were killed and 91 injicles to inspect anti-infiltration measures being taken by the Lebured in 166 road accidents which anese army.

occurred in Jordan between March 23 and 29. They said that Lebanese, Israeli and U.S. teams at the three-month-old talks on the withdrawal The report quoted a spokesman for the traffic department as sayof forces from Lebanon were also ing that most of the cases were due discussing the creation of two to wrong overtaking, reckless dri-Lebanese army brigades that would have special responsibility According to another report. for the south. one person was killed and another

The sources said the plan had been agreed with the Israelis at the last round of talks in the Israeli

the Middle East problem."

ansion."

(Continued from page 1)

Mr. Zhao reaffirmed China's peration with China but this would not figure high on the agenda.

Mubarak urges speedy action China had agreed to supply parts for F-7 fighter aircraft to be assembled in Egypt. The F-7 is Chima's version of the Soviet support for the Palestinian cause and said the Arabs "Certainly can Mr. Ali said President Mubarak defeat Israeli aggression and expand Mr. Zhao met Saturday mor-Egyptian Foreign Minister ning and discussed the Middle East, the Iran-Iraq war and the Kamal Hassan Ali, who is with Mr. Mubarak, said the president Vietnamese intervention in Kamwould discuss military coopucbea.

The New China News Agency said the two countries agreed to sign scientific and technological When Mr. Zhao visited Egypt in pacts and Egypt would open a consulate-general in Shanghai. December, Egypt's defence minister was quoted as saying that

Cairo hopes talks will progress

(Continued from page 1)

Middle East settlement. "Our purpose was never a partial peace just between Israel and Dr. Ghali reaffirmed Egyptian support for President Reagan's Middle East peace plan. This called for Palestinian self-rule in conjunction with Jordan in the occupied West Bank and in Gaza. "We are continually in contact with the United States, with Europe, with Jordan and with the Palestinians, constantly urging that no time should be lost," Dr. Ghali

"If the United States cannot tackle the problem this year how could it be expected to do so next year with an election on This would mean the problem would be defered until 1985 and, in the case of a new president, until mid-

The minister insisted that Egypt's relations with the PLO were still good despite a recent clash over continued observance of the treaty with Israel.

Oil slick talks open Monday

The self-parameter program to the control of the co

(Continued from page 1) almost half the waterway and edging south.

The Gulf states have taken emergency measures to protect vital power and desalination plants. But experts have warned that the pollution will severely harm marine life.

Helicopters make daily reconnaisance patrols over the Gulf and photographs from weather satellites plot the slick's slow progress towards the Straits of Hormuz, galeway to the Gulf.

Caynaud

The Qatari daily newspaper, Al Rayyah, Saturday quoted an Egyptian space geologist in the United States, Farouk Al Baz, as saying that a U.S. space shuttle to be launched on Monday would also monitor the slick.

Tracking the vast slick has become more difficult as the hot Gulf sun evaporates lighter elements in the crude and the tarry globules sink up to 40 inches under the Authority are assisting in the suricultural survey started Saturday in various vey, but the public is called on to governorates with nearly 600 researchers help the various survey teams to conduct their work successfully. who will be touring 70,000 agricultural units Dr. Shreideh said.

Agricultural survey starts

in the country and will be interviewing 370 families in the course of their survey which will be completed by the end of June, according to Director General of the Department of Statistics Burhan Shreideh.

AMMAN (J.T.) — A three-month agr-

He said the survey is regarded husbandry. as one of the most important surveys to be held in the country, and is aimed to determine the main and hasic resources of the agricultural sector in Jordan in terms of food production and animal

The success of the survey. Dr. Shreideh explained, depends on cooperation from farmers and other people connected with agricultural policies in Jordan.

According to Dr. Shreideh. other agricultural surveys were conducted in both banks in 1953. 1965 and 1975 and the findings were employed in planning agricultural programmes in the cou-

Education and the Jordan Valley

The survey findings he added.

will be useful for planners and official institutions for future agricultural programmes and agricultural projects, but definitely the prime beneficiary will be the Jordan wins 2 gold medals at Arab Fine Arts exhibition in Kuwait

Altogether, 15 Arab states are taking part in the exhibition which

The Ministries of Agriculture.

AMMAN (Petra) - Jordan won two gold medals and two certificates of merit at the Arab Fine Arts Exhibition held in Kuwait recently, according to Assistant Director of Tourism at the Ministry of Tourism Mohammad Rafik Al Laham.

the works of Mr. Laham himself and Yaser Dweik both of whom are members of the Jordanian Fine Arts Association.

The two were among a group of six artists from Jordan who took part in the exhibition by displaying samples of their art works. The other artists were Zaki Shaqfa. Yusef Husseini. Abdul is scheduled to last for one month. Mr. Laham said.

During the Jordanian team's stay in Kuwait, Mr. Laham presented two medals on behalf of He said that the awards were for Jordanian artists to the Kuwaiti Arts Association in recognition of > Mr. Lahain also concluded an agreement on cooperation between the Kuwaiti association and the Jordanian Fines Arts Association for mounting exhibitions in both countries and for excits efforts in mounting Arab exhibitions in Kuwait over the past 16

Countries that took part in the Kuwait exhibition which opened on March 8 were Jordan, Iraq. Svria, the United Arab Emirates, Oman, Bahrain, Algeria, Palestine. Saudi Arabia. Qatar, Sudan, Morocco, Somalia, South Yemen and Kuwait.

Commenting on the golden medals won by Jordan, Minister of Culture and Youth Ma'an Abu Nowar said that this was a source of pride in all Jordanians "particularly those interested in arts".

The minister called on the Jordanian Fine Arts Association to exert more efforts for participating in Arab and intemutional exhibition and achieve

Possibilities of Jordan's community colleges' accreditation outlined

Ra'ouf Sbam'oun and Mrs. Samia hanging experiences in art work.

By Afifah A, Kaloti Special to the Jordan Times

AMMAN — A visiting scholar from the Central Texas College in Killeen, Texas, and the Council of Higher Education in Jordan recently held talks on possibilities of setting up an "accreditation system" for community colleges in

Dr. John C. Mundt, who is the executive director for int. emational education and the chairman of Texas Community College Consortium for International Education to provide technical services to developing countries. told the Jordan Times that the aim of his visit to Jordan "is to determine to what extent the accreditation system in the U.S. may in someway be applicable to Jordanian needs and whether or not is would be possible to develop an accreditation system for the community colleges of Jordan."

Asked of how the accreditation system works for U.S. institutions of higher education, Dr. Mundt said: "In the U.S. there is a voluntary system of regional association.

"The country." he explained. is divided into five associations according to regions. My college bappens to be in the Southern Association and that stretches way across the whole south of the U.S. from Texas to Florida."

Dr. Mundt went on to say that in each of these five regions, colleges and universities have formed regional associations for accreditation. "The task of each association is a to publish standard, and grant reaffirmation of accreditation for the colleges and universities once every 10 years. Dr. Mundt added. He said that it is a must for colleges and universities, to function as institutions of higher education. to have an accreditation by one of these associations and then every 10 years to "go through what we call a self-study process in order to have their accreditation reaffirmed." "The self-study process," he said, "is a process whereby the institution makes a study of itself. It analyses how it has met the standards laid down by the association during the previous 10 years and then submits a comprehensive report."

Dr. Mundt pointed out that these self-study and analysis are then checked and verified by the regional association.

"A visiting committee from other states," he said, "which vary from seven to 15 members come to the campus for three or four days to interview the president, faculty members, administrators and board members of the institution."

"The visiting committee," h added, "will determine whether or not the self-study prepared by the college is true."

They also review how the colleges comply with the standards of the association.

The visiting committee then submits a report to the regional association and then committees within the association review these reports and self-studies, and determine whether the accreditation should be reaffirmed or

Concerning the application of U.S. accreditation system in Jordan, Dr. Mundt said, "I believe that it would be very possible to establish an accreditation system based on standards that are applicable to Jordanian community colleges, based upon the development of self-study within the institutions and analysis of selfstudy by peers from other ins-

Dr. Mundt said that the Council of Higher Education should then determine whether to reaffirm the accreditation of these institutions.

According to Dr. Mundt, there are two types of accreditations. The general accreditation for the institution as a whole and the specialised accreditation for purticular fields of studies.

He emphasised that both types should have separate associations with separate standards which car be applied in Jordan.

Referring to community colleges in Jordan Dr. Mundt said that he was very much impressed with the fact that Jordan has an established system for them.

"Jordan realises that training technicians who would increase productivity of local industry is equally important as training doctors, lawvers and engineers", Dr. Mundt added.

He pointed out that community

WANTED

1. SALESMAN: For foodstuffs and various other consumer products. Should have fair knowledge of local market conditions and minimum three years experience in selling consumer products.

2. SECRETARY: Should be able to carry out complete office routine independently with experience in typing and telex.

Only qualified candidates need apply to: Barg Supermarket, Tel: 664318 colleges in Jordan aim at training students for future employment and this is how Jordan, "will be making a very constructive contribution to the country in training employees and technicians." Answering a question on the extent of transferability of credits from community colleges to universities. Dr. Mundt said that he expects fairly soon to see in Jordan full transferability of credits.

"It takes some time for the ercdibility of community colleges to be established, but it gradually comes about, because it is a logical development in higher education." he said. "However," Dr. Mundt added. "some of the community college graduates will not be interested in continuing their education. They are rather interested in securing an employment." "Therefore." he said, "the community colleges in effect will become screening devices and the pressure for enrolment will be less at the junior level than at the freshman level."

Dr. Mundi stressed the need to increase opportunities for community college graduates to go to one of the Jordanian universities.

In order to have full faith in the colleges' credits. Dr. Mundt said that the Council of Higher Education should establish coordinaring boards which would include representatives from univers and community colleges. adt is scheduled to leave for two U.S. Sunday.

JEA plans electrification of 235 villages

AMMAN (Peira) - The Jordan Electricity Authority (JEA) has plans for the electrification of 235 villages in Jordan by the end of 1985, according to a JEA spokesman Saturday.

Spokesman said that by 1967 only 34 villages had electric power and this figure jumped to 222 hy the end of 1982. The number of villages and refugee camps in Jordan is 985 and are inhabited by nearly 41 per cent of the country's population, the spokesman added. The main problems facing the extension of electric supplies to these villages and camps, he said, lies in the remoteness of the villages from the main power lines particularly in the southern regions of the country. According to the spokesman

JEA has drawn up plans for elecirifying 25 villages in Madaha district by the end of 1984. A loan obtained from the World Bank will be used to finance the electrification of 21 more villages between 1984 and 1985, he said.

Responsible Editor; MORAMMAD AMAD GEORGE S. HAWATMEH

Contributing Editor

RAMI G. KHOURI

Board of Directors: JUMA'A HAMMAD RAJA ELISSA MORAMMAD AMAD MAHMOUD AL KAYED

Editorial and advertising offices: Jordan Press Foundation.

University Road, P.O. Box 6710, Amman, Jordan.

Telephones: 666320, 666265 Telex: 21497 ALRAI JO Telegrom: JORTHES, Amman, Jordan.

The Jordan Lines is published daily except Fridays. Subscription and acivernsing rates are available from the Jordan Times advertising department.

Arms and dreams don't mix

AS the delivery of 75 American F-16s to Israel is not scheduled to begin before 1985, United States President Reagan's remarks last Thursday that he will not approve the delivery while Israeli forces continue to occupy Lebanon admittedly cannot have-more than a psychological impact on Israel and the Arab countries at this stage.

But the U.S. president did not only talk about advanced fighter-bombers in his Middle East discussion during a question-and-answer session with reporters in Los Angeles that Thursday. And be might have raised a more important point on the wider question of Middle East peace when he said: ...my dream is that Israel can only know real security if it doesn't have to remain an armed camp beyond what its size

Connect the remarks on the F-16s with the latter statement, and you will have alarm bells ringing loud and clear throughout Israel. This is what must have actually happened, judging from the sound of some Israeli officials reacting angrily to what the president had to say.

To the Arabs, American statements, presidential and otherwise, are in reasingly failing to have any kind of impact, and understandably so. Many of us would argue that the U.S. administration needs to try something better and more substantial to save its sagging credibility in this area, and that the best the president's latest remarks could do is to cancel out the effect on the Arabs of an earlier U.S. administration decision to sell Israel 200 Sidewinder air-to-air missiles which was announced only last week.

Despite this, we wish we could help President Reagan realise his dream "that Israel can only know real security if it doesn't have to remain an armed camp far beyond its size warrants." But, first, we have to ask whether dreaming is the best an American president can do while in office. If it is, God belp us all as Israel remains the American-made armed camp that it is.

ARABIC PRESS EDITORIALS

Al Ra'i: New pressure on Israel

The decision announced by U.S. President Reagan banning the export of seventy-five F-16 jet fighters to Israel as long as it occupied Lebanese territory is a new trend in American way of handling the Israeli troublemakers. What is crucial about its character is that it links the lifting of the ban to some practical procedure, an issue which has not been customary in U.S. tradition.

Added to the U.S. decision is the French official response to such a decision announced by the French foreign secretary. The French diplomatic gesture in support of the American decision is an obvious pressure on Israel to revise its anti-peace stand.

The significance of the U.S. decision is dependent on its consequence, and unless Israel responds positively to it by withdrawing its forces from Lebanon, the U.S. should exert new pressure to guarantee such a necessary prerequisite for resuming a comprehensive peace effort for the Middle East. It is also of vital importance that the U.S. includes a new element in its pressure on Israel regarding the Israeli settlement policies in the occupied Arab territories. A freeze of settlement plans in the West Bank and Gaza will certainly help create a suitable atmosphere for new comprehensive peace moves within the framework of President Reagan's initiative.

Al Dustour: Other measures must follow

Despite the fact that the U.S.-Israeli agreement on the delivery of the seventy-five F-16s to Israel provides for implementing the bargain by 1985, the Israeli authorities responded angrily to President Reagan's announcement to the effect that the delivery of the F-16 shipment depends on an Israeli withdrawal from Lebanon.

Some observers described the American step as a shift from the traditional way of attempting to persuade Israel to change its positions into initiating effective measures in compliance with the U.S. international responsibilities in defence of its image. The stubborn Israeli stand towards U.S. pledges to guarantee Lebanon's sovereignty and territorial integrity has greatly harmed American repulation and credibility; nevertheless, this little gesture by the U.S. administration can be of no consequence unless other measures

The Israeli response did not concentrate on the decision as a move indicating military pressure, but saw a problem in President Reagan's assessment that the Israeli presence in Lebanon represents an occupation of Lebanese territory. The Lebanese might find themselves in a position which requires armed struggle for freeing their soil from the Israeli occupation, and in such a case the U.S. should help them free their land from foreign occupation. It is still early to describe the U.S. move as a beginning of an effective pressure on Israel, for other measures have to be undertaken if a suitable atmosphere for peace in the region is to be created.

Sawt Al Shaab: U.S. impatience with Israel

The decision taken by U.S. President Reagan to suspend shipment of seventy-five F-16s as long as Israel refrains from withdrawing its forces from Lebanon is an expression of impatience provoked by Israeli stubborness regarding the withdrawal of foreign troops from Lebanon. The dates set by the U.S. administration for such a withdrawal have been violated by the Israeli stance, and U.S. credibility has suffered a lot because of it.

In the tripartite negotiations over Lebanon the U.S. has been made to look a prejudiced one by Israel. The vicious circle in which the negotiations have fallen, barms not only U.S. reputation as a peace mediator, but also denies President Reagan a diplomatic success. which would be of great help to him in his elections' campaign.

We still have to wait and see if the American move would prove effective, for not long after the U.S. decision an Israeli official reiterated past stands proclaiming that Israel would not withdraw its forces from Lebanon unless the targets of the invasion are realised. It is almost certain that the U.S. administration will have to exert new pressure on Israel if new avenues for a comprehensive and just settlement to the Middle East conflict are to be opened.

|Cautious debate begun on the future of the Soviet system

By John Morrison Reuter

MOSCOW - Reformers and conservatives have begun a cautious backstage debate here on the munist Party leader Yuri And-

Western and Communist diplomats who analyse Soviet affairs avoided taking sides and is keen to ided those who argue the Soviet the system. system must adapt itself in order mlin should draw from it for its World Socialist System in Moscow, put the reformist case in Voprosy Filosofii, the main Soviet philosophical journal last year.

Mr. Butenko argued that the future of the Soviet system, with Polish crisis was the result not just the tacit encouragement of Com- of mistakes by the Warsaw leadership but of essential political and economic contradictions in socialist soceity. In other words, the Polish system had failed to believe Mr. Andropov has so far adapt itself fast enough to take into account the changing pattern see the arguments continue. The of group and individual interests, debate is couched in often obscure with the inevitable result that the Marxist terms but basically div- workers became alienated from

Prolonged economic and polto survive, and those who argue in itical stagnation. Mr. Butenko favour of the status quo. A key warned, led inevitably to outdated question for both sides is how to social relationships, the neglect of interpret the 1980 workers' revolt real worker interests and held against Communist rule in Poland back the development of proand what lessons, if any, the Kre-ductive forces. The winer argued that Soviet society should move forward towards Communism by Anatoly Butenko, a researcher taking into account more and at the Institute for Problems of the more the interests of individuals. avoiding the extremes of excessive centralisation and "anarchic" democracy. Despite the balancing -warning against excessive democracy, this appeared to be a clear call for a decentralisation of power.

Transitional period

The conservative ideological reply came in Pravda, the organ of the Communist Party, in early March from Richard Kosolapov. editor of the Communist Party theoretical magazine Kommunist. Without naming Mr. Butenko. he accused him of trying to revise the teaching of Lenin and said the Polish crisis was caused by the fact that Poland was at a much earlier historical stage of socialism than the Soviet Union.

Poland, he said, was still in a "transitional period", with private agriculture, a "capitalist sector" and "strong anti-socialist ideological tendencies." By contrast the Soviet system, he declared, had reached a stage of classiess development which gave "reliable guarantees" against "negative tendencies of a crisis nature."

Conflicts in Soviet society were caused solely by individuals or groups who tried to oppose their 'egotistic interests" to those of society as a whole. Kosolapov said such "social parasites" were like moths eating away at the fabric of collective social relationships.

Kosolapov's article clearly implied that the Soviet Union should become a more, rather than less, collectivist society. The same argument was reiterated in an article in Kommunist to mark the centenary of the death of Karl Marx.

Same argument

The article, written by M. Sakov, said the key to Marx's doctrine was the abolition of private property and its replacement by collective property. Sakov's article said the centralised interests of the state should be given priority over local and group interests, and there could be no possible contradiction between the employee and the employer in a socialist state.

Foreign analysts here believe Mr. Andropov is closely following these questions. In his own article on Karl Marx, he struck a middle position which appeared to give a certain amount of comfort to both sides. The debate may seem highly theoretical, but its outcome is likely to be crucial for policy. Mr. Andropov has made clear that he takes ideology very seriously and does not believe in a "narrowly pragmatic approach.

If the arguments of the conservatives are accepted by the party leadership, then the implication is that no political and economic changes will be necessary. The conservative position implies resistance on ideological vate agriculture or private trate along the lines of some countries in eastern Europe.

While economic reformers point to the successful experience of private agriculture in Hongar or private trademien in East Germany, the conservatives believe that the same of the private sector was a principal cause of the Polish crisis. More private plots, more me entives, more private housing more consumer goods - all these things are seen as a threat to the collectivised Communist society of the future to which the ruling party is committed. In the word of Mr. Kosolapov, "socialist society is a working society, not a consumer society."...

But for the reformers, the menolahic" vision of Soviet so: iety needs applating under the impact of Poland in order to acommodate more group and ind ividual interests.

Reagan's ABM plan divides aides

By Jeffrey Antevil

WASHINGTON — President. Reagan's advisers are divided over his controversial proposal to move away from nuclear deterrence in favour of an Anti-Missile system (ABM), according to senior administration officials. But Defence Secretary Caspar Weinberger appparently played a key role in bringing the idea to Mr. Reagan's attention several weeks before the president publicly embraced it, they said. The officials who briefed reporters on the ABM plan said some senior advisers had argued unsuccessfully against including it in Mr. Reagan's televised speech on defence issues last week, Some of these aides had pointed out shortcomings of the proposal and argued that it might detract from an appeal for higher defence spending, which they viewed as the major purpose of the speech. Among the issues they raised was the likelihood of critics charging that an ABM system would violate several treaties and would the chiefs that hadn't already been create the impression of aba- discussed by him and that had his ndoning U.S allies in favour of a support."

"fortress America."

And some Pentagon arms experts have raised serious questions about the feasibility and cost of defending Americans against a Soviet missile attack. But Mr. Reagan decided to go ahead with the speech, coupling his call for an intensive scientific search for protection against nuclear missiles with a defence of his proposed $345 billion military budget for next year.

The president told reporters Friday the idea had been "kicking around in my mind for some time" and he brought it up at a meeting with the joint chiefs of staff several weeks ago. But senior officials said the military chiefs had raised the subject at a meeting with Mr. Reagan, and Mr. Weinberger. who was present, kenw in advance that they planned to do so. Asked if the military chiefs bad taken their lead from the defence secretary, a Pentagon official replied: "Nothing comes out of here that doesn't have his imprimatur on it." He added: "It certainly wasn't an issue that was raised by

The president tried in bis speech anti-missile system, and several to answer criticism in advance. denying that research on an ABM system without deploying one would violate treaty obligations and strongly reaffirming the U.S. commitment to deter a nuclear attack on the allies. The charge of violating treaties including the 1972 ABM pact was made later by the Soviet news agency TASS among others. But most domestic criticism focused on Mr. Reagan's call for a military build-up to match Moscow's "margin of superiority" rather-than on the ABM proposal.

In the official Democratic party response to the speech, made public Priday. Senator Daniel Inouye said: The president attempted to instil fear in the hearts of the American people, to raise the spectre of a Soviet armed nuclear attack, and to divert our attention from the dismal failure of his economic policies. "Indeed, he left the impression that the United States is at the mercy of the Soviet Union. Most respectfully, Mr. President, you know that is not recalled that some of Mr. Reagan's own Pentagon advisers seriously questioned the idea in congressional testimony recently. For example Robert Cooper, director of advanced defence research projects, told a hearing: "We need basic... breakthroughs in the ability to manage complex systems before any such system might be feasible in the future." In other testimony, be estimated the cost of an ABM network at $200 billion to 300 billion. Richard Delauer, undersecretary of defence for research and planning, told a congressional committee the cost and time needed to deploy an ABM would be enormous. But officials told Reuters Mr. Cooper's and Mr. Delauer's boss, Mr. Weinberger, had been thinking about missile defence since be took officie more than two years ago. The defence secretary was applauded enthusiastically last month at a conference of conservatives who have supported him strongly in the past, many of whom were wearing lapel badges backing an ABM scheme known as "high fro-

Many scientists and defence experts criticised the proposed .ntier."

Mounting economic troubles in Peru

By François Raitherger

LIMA - Half-way through its five-year term. Peru's young, debt-ridden democratic government faces mounting economic difficulties while austerity measures and spiralling inflation are fast sapping its popularity. A 24-hour general strike earlier this month prompted by inflation fast approaching 100 per cent, rising unemployment and higher food prices sounded alarm bells in the colonial palace where elections returned conservative President Fernando Belaunde Terry in 1980, 12 years after he was toppled by the military. Politicians point to a resurgence of malaria and an increase in tuberculosis as worrying signs of impoverishment and the decline in living standards of the country's 18.5 million people. One of the major problems is Peru's $11.3 billion foreign debt, largely inherited from the military, which costs the country 45 per cent of its export income to service. But its traditional raw material exports of copper and silver have been hit by a series of natural disasters, strikes in the mining indcaused by a fall in both price and the fish away, have now virtually world demand.

Previously hailed by intemational bankers as a Latin for up to a year on short-term debt repayments worth $2 billion.

Social troubles and leftist guerrilla violence in the Andean province of Ayacucho have raised the shadow of another military takeover. But most politicians and diplomats say economic troubles would deter the military from stepping in and see a coup as only a remote possibility at the moment.

General Francisco Morales Bermudez, who handed over power to President Belaunde in 1980, is now setting up a political party to run for the 1985 presidential elections. "I have faith in democracy or I would not be working 10 hours a day for the elections," he told Reuters.

In addition to the fall in mineral export earnings, anchovy fish meal exports have been sharply reduced in the past few years by government-imposed conservation measures following overfishing. The measures, together with a change in Pacific Ocean strustry and a drop in export income earn patterns which have chased paralysed the fishing industry.

Freak, unseasonal rains have swept away roads and bridges and American showcase of pragmatic damaged crops in the north of the management. Peru earlier this country, causing damage which month had to request deferment could run into several hundred million dollars, according to preliminary unofficial estimates. At the same time, an acute drought in the southern highlands has caused damage estimated at $80 million.

1983 deficit

Prime Minister Fernando Schwald last month forecast a S900 million current account deficit for 1983 and announced a package of austerity measures including limits on public investment to restore state finances to health. The plan followed an agreement last year with the international monetary fund for a three-year. $740 million extended loan.

Earlier this month, Peru asked international bankers for a further $880 million loan, about half to cover 1983 debt servicing and half to help finance the current account deficit and carry on with a reduced investment programme.

Austerity measures, including cuts in food subsidies, are pushing prices above last year's 73 per cent inflation rate, despite government plans to reduce it to 45 per cent. The Peruvian sol was devalued

92.5 per cent last year. Senator Gaston Acurio, chairman of the congressional economic committee, admitted inflation could go well over an unprecedented 100 per cent if the trend of this year's first two months continued. Demands for inflation-linked wages and curbs on unemployment were among the motives for a general strike on-March 8, called despite a lastminute increase of one-third in the minimum wage.

Though described as "political and illegal' by President Belaunde, the strike went ahead with the participation of 30 to 70 per cent of the working population. according to government or union

Four people were killed when a policeman fired at rioters trying to overturn a bus and 500 people were detained, including some top trade unionists. Eduardo Castillo, secretary-general of the biggest union, the Communist-led General Confederation of Workers, did not rule out another general strike to try to force a change in economic policies.

Enriching our country and our lives

To the Editor

One's country should be one's pride whether it gives you riches or only your daily bread. Riches come as extras sometimes when you work hard to achieve them but your daily bread is the all important. It gives you a peace of mind and the essentials in order to be able to continue in a difficult world. A growing country with its growth pains, should be helped along with gentle care, love, strength and one gift that in a country such as ours is invaluable. A little sacrifice.

For the past quarter of a century Jordan has grown, thanks to our King, a hundred years ahead. This has implied a lot of giving day in and day out. The change in Jordan is striking. It is now a beautiful modern country, a dear country, to be proud of. Our King worked hard for us but remember, people also had to help to make our country what it is. Always in our daily lives we give. How can it be otherwise? It is not only what our country can give us but what can we give to it. If one has the means financially, one can help even more. An orphanage, the blind, the old, the sick, a just cause, the help needed is endless. If one only has one's daily bread one can obey the laws, as everyone has to, help to heat the confused thoughts of others, do a good deed and maybe plant a tree. Such gifts, when given only from one's heart, are beneficial to

. In a world like the one we have inherited we are always running, always needing, always wanting. We should not forget that we also always should want and need God's guidance. Bread is essential, riches are not but if you have them both can't you share your abundance with your country? We should remember, that we, the people help make our country what it is. In this world where evil shows up so often isn't it our responsibility to set a good example to the best of our abilities? Doing something worthwhile is not always returned but it forms a beginning. Our years can be enriched by our attitude towards our daily lives. This does not mean that we will not have problems but the importance is how we try to solve them. A lot has to do with our attitude. We can make our lives a daily misery or we can try to find a little joy in life every day and remember to not injure anvone unjustly. We should strive to do our jobs correctly. We should also strive to do what benefits our country, not just ourselves. Where would our family, employer, we ourself or our country be without one of the most difficult virtues to acquire; patience. It is an un-limited gift to all. Yes, we have already given but we always have to remember that we have to continue to

Even if you only have kindness and truthfulness to spread around, even if only one good deed was accomplished every month by every person, imagine how our country would grow. An abundance of love, care, giving, which gives a wonderful feeling of self-satisfaction would help our country to outshine its goals for the future.

Mrs. Hani Hayek

Worthwhile? Yes.

Soviets are still uncertain about Andropov moves

By John Morrison

MOSCOW - After nearly five months of Yuri Andropov, the Soviet people are still not sure in which direction their new Communist Party chief plans to lead them. Foreign Andropovwatchers are equally uncertain whether the 68-year-old former security police boss can force through domestic changes, and more important, whether he really

Mr. Andropov, when he was appointed party general secretary in succession to Leonid Brezhnev last Nov. 12, gave the impression of a man determined to get the country moving again after a period of stagnation. But despite an initial flurry of dismissals, the pace of change has been far slower than most people expected.

Compared with his predecessor. Mr. Andropov shuns the limelight - a paradox in a political system where high visibility has traditionally been a sign of power. Some foreign analysts believe he has run up against limits to extending his personal authority, citing as proof his failure to assume the still-vacant office of Soviet

These analysts argue that Mr. Andropov's plans for change have been blocked by politburo col- was to launch a campaign for tigleagues who prefer the status quo of the Brezhnev era. Others helieve that Mr. Andropov is merely taking his time, and that the Soviet political process makes no provision for the kind of dynamic 'first hundred days" which newly elected American presidents traditionally promise.

A caretaker

There are some who believe, on the evidence of Mr. Andropov's first few months, that he has no real desire to reform the existing system and that his relatively advanced age will make him a caretaker leader in Soviet history.

Soviet officials and ordinary citizens tend to project their own wishful thinking onto Mr. Andropov and see him in various guises. Some see him as a strong leader in the Russian tradition, who will bring back law and order and crack down on crime and corruption.

Others see him as a closet liberal who will introduce Hungarian-style reforms and make the Soviet economy work more rationally. Ideological conservatives, on the other hand, see him as a man who will uphold the importance of Marxist-Leninist theory against pragmatic ref-

Mr. Andropov's first policy step hter work discipline, reinforcing his image as a hardline supporter of law and order. The campaign, with its attacks on drunks and scroungers, struck a popular cbord at first but was soon scaled back.

The party magazine Kom-munist this month criticised managers who had adopted "punitive measures" against first-time offenders instead of trying to educate them. "This is a policeman's approach to the problems of the Soviet economy and cannot produce any lasting results," one foreign diplomat commented.

Mr. Andropov has also launobed a drive for greater ideological conformity in the arts, especially in the theatre, but Soviet cultural figures say they are used to such campaigns and see no real threat of a lasting crackdown. Subcontractors

In agriculture, there are signs that Mr. Andropov has by contrast decided to force through a radical policy initiative which could have long-lasting results. On the Soviet Union's giant collective and state farms production will be subcontracted to work gangs ranging in size from three or four to 100 people.
This system has existed successfully in some areas for years, but there has been strong resistance to it from farm bosses and bureaucrais. The system is supposed to improve output by 20 to 30 per cent and cut costs hecause the work gangs are paid according to the amount of grain or milk they produce.

The new policy, more radical than the "food programme" approved by the party leadership last May under Mr. Brezhnev, clearly has Mr. Andropov's backing. The party leader, however, has so far left the main role in announcing it to Mikhail Gorbachov, the Central Committee secretary for agriculture. As far as the rest of the economy is concerned, the signs are that Mr. Andropov has yet to make up his mind whether major reforms are needed. Under Mr. Brezhnev, even the word "reform" was hanned from the official vocabulary in favour of "further perfection" and other eup-Mr. Andropov has yet to pronounce the dreaded word, but has given a cautious hint in an article in Kommunist that some kind of action is needed to update the way the economy is run. Mr. Andropov's article has been the signal for a rash of press articles proposing changes in the economic system, particularly in centralised

Yuri Andropov

Managua suspects U.S. backing for rebel attacks

By Bernd Debusmann Reuser

MANAGUA - An invasion by well-equipped rightist rebels has strengthened convictions in Nicaragua that the United States is determined to back the overthrow of the leftist government, even at the risk of extensive bloodshed. The ruling Sandinista Liberation Front (FSLN) is facing its biggest military challenge since it won Nicaragua's civil war in 1979. Il says 2.000 right-wing exiles have infiltrated into the country in line with U.S. plans supported by Honouras, Washington's closest ally in Central America.

Both the U.S. and Honduras deny any involvement. The operation was mounted by the Nicaraguan Democratic Front (FDN), a group formed in Miami, which accompanied mortar and machine-gun attacks on targets deep inside Nicragua with radio appeals for a nationwide insurrection against the Sandinistas. But desphe widespread disenchantment with the fruits of the Sandmistas revolution, some seasoned diplomats here predict the invasion will make Nicaraguans close ranks behind their leaders instead of rising against them.

Since its first official anncouncement of the invasion on March 21, the government has stressed that the rebel force is made up entirely of members of the late dictator Anastasio Somoza's dreaded national guard. Revulsion with the guard's brutal into the broad-based FSLN-led revolution which ended his rule, after a bitter civil war in which some 50,000 people died.

Although the leadership of the FDN includes at lest seven prominent former members of the national guard, the precise composition of the invasion force is not known. "But equating opposition to the Sandinistas with the national guard is probably a very effective way of rallying support (for the government)," said a Western diplomat.

According to the Sandinistas, U.S.-sponsored efforts to destahilise Nicaragua were put into high gear last November --coinciding with a U.S. news magazine report that Washington's amhassador in .Honduras was running a secret operation involving Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) personnel to bring down the Managua adm-

Illegal activities

The report listed several camps on the Honduran side of the border it said served as training facilities and staging posts for raids on Nicaragua. Apparently emharrassed by the publicity, Honduras promptly issued a statement promising action against foreigners using its territory for "illegal activities." The invasion force, the Sandinistas say, began slipping across the border in January. First rumours of heavy fighting in the central province of Matagalpa began circulating early in March, a few kept silent for almost two weeks before telling the people that "Somocista murderers" had penetrated national territory.

You cannot take this operation lightly," said a Western dip-lomat. "This is more than the usual cross-border hit and run thing. For the first time the Sandinistas have to deal with a guerrilla force deep inside the cou-ntry. It is a problem." Military experts, however, said the invasion was unlikely to cause a long-term threat to the superior numbers and fire-power of the Nicaraguan army.

At the United Nations Security Council dehate on the invasion. U.S. Ambassador Jeanne Kirkpatrick put the number of Nicaraguans under arms at 175,000 and repeated earlier charges that, the country's military machine was a threat to its neighbours.

The slow pace of operations to deal with the invaders raised questions over the efficiency of the Sandinista military but army sources said that the wild mountainous terrain in the area favoured small mobile forces. They said lack of surveillance aircraft and air tranport forced the army to pursue the invaders on foot. In its first comment on the invasion, the U.S. State Department described the Nicaraguan opposition as "diverse, nationalist and independent" as opposed to being subject to external influences. The FDN issued a series of communiques in the Honduran capital of Tegucigalpa and several of the methods was a major factor in days before the visit here by Pope organisation's leaders appeared dictator Gen. Francisco Franco galvanizing opposition to Somoza John Paul. But the government at a press conference in Miami.

Mayor Tierno: More scholar than politician

By Brian Mooney Reuter

MADRID - More scholar than politician, Madrid's Socialist mayor has built himself what is regarded as an unassailable following in this city where wit and learning can still win votes.

Enrique Tierno Galvan, 65. besides being a leading expert on the Roman historian Tacitus, is a philosopher, law professor and author of books on subjects ranging from agnosticism to soc-

Currently translating D.H. awrence's Sons and Lovers from English to Spanish for intellectual recreation, Mr. Tierno can startle his 3.5 million fellow citizens with bis donnish ways. • ... His proclamations, posted throughout the city, are written in rich and stylised 17th century Spanish prose."We are losing our

His attitude to language typifies the preoccupations of his four years in office, which have been dominated by an attempt to preserve historic Madrid and save the city from developers, pollution and noise. Mr. Tierno, who was voted into office with Communist support to head the city's first leftist administration since the 1936-39 civil war, says he stopped the destruction of Madrid.

He refers to the reckless expansion during the 36-year rule of dictator Gen. Francisco Franco town to major capital. Under Franco, who died in 1975. Madrid became one of the most polluted cities in Europe and the skyline of its historic buildings was wiped out by a ring of ugly high-rise apartment blocks. "They were even pulling down churches." Mr. Tierno says.

'We stopped all this and saved Madrid by halting overnight all development projects. I made a lot of enemies," he adds. Mr. Tierno makes fewer claims, however, for the day to day running of Madrid. He stresses the importance of citizenship but argues that there are no magic cures for modern cities. 'I see myself more as a manager trying to put things right than as someone with spectacular plans. he explains.

The achievements of his management include a perceptible drop in pollution, cleaner streets, language. I am trying to give it more trees and green spaces, better run bus and metro services, a spectacular rebirth of popular culture and greater control of traffic and parking.

The mayor also has a pet project to clean up Madrid's heavily polluted River Manzanares.

The Manzanares, dismissed by Cervantes as an apprentice river. has been subjected to generations of Madrid's human waste. Drought sometimes reduces it to a stinking trickle. But Mr. Tierno says its waters will be clear before the end of the year, when his anti-pollution project, modelled on the clean-up of the River Thames in England, is complete.

Plans for the Manzanares. which flows south through the western part of the city, also include raising its level to make it navigable for small pleasure craft. One of my ambitions is to see Oxford and Cambridge staging a boat race on the Manzanares." the mayor says.

Mr. Tierno, who is expected comfortably to beat his right-wing opponents in municipal elections next May 8, says he looks forward to a further four years in office.

Though at one stage in his career he seemed headed for a prominent role in national politics. Mr. Tierno says he has no regrets about the turn of his political for-

"I would much rather be mayor. of Madrid than a cabinet minister," he says, "Here I am closer An active opponent of Franco.

for which he suffered the loss of University. 20 days in prison and self-exile. Mr. Tierno emerged at the dictator's death as leader of a major splinter Socialist Party.

But in 1978, after a period of rivalry, he merged his Popular Socialist Party with the Socialist Workers Party of Felipe Gonzalez, now prime minister, becoming for a while its honorary president.

He played a pivotal role in keeping the Socialist cause alive during Franco's dictatorship when all opposition was outlawed. He spent time in exile in the sixties at Princeton University in the United States.

Will Gonzalez be able to take Spain into EC?

By Brian Mooney

goal of taking Spain into the Eur- Mediterranean produce. opean Community (EC).

Spanish officials, involved in negotiating membership say the spirit of Mr. Gonzalez's election victory speech last October, when he said it would not be presumptuous for Spain to join the Community within the four-year life of the new parliament, was fast

The sense of disillusionment in Madrid follows a pattern of raised and dashed hopes that have marked Spanish endeavour to join the Community ever since formal application in 1977. But what is different this time is the realisation that it is not now politics, but economics, that is keeping Spain at arm's length from the Community and that it is not just France but virtually all 10 members who are lined up in one way or another against Madrid. The Community officially shunned Spain for its undemocratic ways during the dictatorship of General Franco. When he died in 1975, its members made encouraging overtures to help case the transition to democracy. The transition was arguably completed with last year's Socialist victory which brought the left back to power for the first time since the 1936-39 civil war with no sign of revolt.

Mr. Gonzalez's victory also augured well in theory because fellow Socialist François Mitterrand was in power in France, recently the chief opponent of Spanish EC membership.

No illusions

But the Spanish Socialists no longer hold illusions about fraternal French assistance, nor about prizes for democracy. The harder and more down-to-earth attitude in Madrid also partly explains a decision to freeze Spanish integration into the military wing of the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation INATO), the Spanish officials said. They said Spain was even prepared to use the NATO caro in ils bargaining membership terms.

"One conclusion we have come to is that most countries in the community have been hiding hehind France as an excuse to put off our membership." one of the officials said. They have drawn up a list country by country, of the impediments to Spanish membership to demonstrate the point.

The officials said the gravest conclusion in Madrid was that enfargement of the EC, to embrace both Spain and Portugal, required a decision by the 10 existing members to spend more money and reform the Common Agriculture Policy (CAP).

"If there is no change in CA? and no willingness to spend more then Spain cannot become a MADRID - Just four months member," one official said, CAF after taking office, the Socialist regulates agriculture prices and government of Felipe Gonzalez subsidies and would require a has begun to question seriously major overhaul to accommodate a whether it will be able to meet its sudden influx of cheap Spanish

> Spain stands most to gain by expanding its markets for entities fruits, olive oil and similar produce but concomitantly most to lose by exposing its industrial error banking sectors to the more suphisticated competition of the 1st.

Unacceptable

The two conflicting interests he at the heart of the lotterest negotiations between Spain and the Community. The Spanish officials say the EC is trying to get the hetter of Spain on both from by insisting on abolition of protective barriers on industry within three years while demanding 10 years. for absorption of Sponish agricultural produce.

The officials say this is unacceptable and that Spain h. spainposed a more flexible system with concessions traded on a give and take basis. They say this "pivotol" system should have a seven-year baseline with a concession allowing one product into Spain within, for example, four years matched by maintaining a barrier on another for 10.

The officials say that after six years of negotiation it would take only about one week to settle the technical details, "It's just a question of the will to negotiate." one said. He said the government no longer even talked of a target date for Spain's entry into the Community, and warned that the Spanish people might eventually turn against membership if negofiations dragged on indefinitely.

Listing some of the specific bilateral problems, the Sponish officials quoted the case of Luxembourg, which objects to the free flow of labour from Portugat on the grounds that 10 per cent of its work force is already Portuguese and that more could even endanger national security.

West Germany has also expressed alarm at the product of the influx of Spanish and Physiques. labour. Britain was to be soon of objections over Soon with fishing quotas. Belgium view in ig vin ough on sical and herlands was opposed to Spanish olive oil on the grounds that is would harm its soya oil sales.

haly was pressing band for Spain to end quickly protection of its textile and farm machiners industries, thus threatening both with extinction, and together with Greece and France was creating major problems for Spain's Mediterranean produce.

West Germany was equally forceful on textiles and also sought "unfair" market advantages for the sale of televisions and sewing machines. France, meantwhile, adamantly opposed an application of the "pivotal" system.

TV & RADIO

JORDAN TELEVISION MAIN CHANNEL

16c30	Korar
16:50
17:29	Children's Programme
17:30	Black Horse
18:00	Circu
15:20	That's Incredible
19:10	Walt Disney
19-20	Programmes Review
20:00	News in Arabi
20:30	Local Programme
21:00	Arabic Serie
22-1d	Arabic Serie
23-10	Nowe in Arabi

FOREIGN CHANNEL

	R-4U
19.00	News in French
19:36	News in Hebrew
26:08	News in Arabic
20:30	Brass: Episode 1
21-LA
22-00	News in English
	meimmirter
42:15	Best Seller: Manions of America
	DARIO TORRAN
	RADIO JORDAN

18:10 Easter Mass Direct from the Vat-

855 KHL AM & 49 MHL FM

	minimum [ACM2 2011/1031]
19:05	Morning Show
12:00	News Summary
14303	Pop ession
13:00
13:45	Pop Session
14-86	News Bulletin
14:10	instrumentals
14-15	Science Repon
15:04	Concert House
16-00	Concent rious
16.02	News Summary
17-44	instrumentals, Old Favourite
19-00	Listeners' Choice
1976	News Summary
TO:NO	Jazz Hou
12,000	Newstest
17-36
78-00	Date with a State
28:00 21:00	Date with a State
20:00 21:00 21:58	Dare with a State
28-99 21-99 21-58 22-99	Date with a State

BBC WORLD SERVICE

639, 720, 1413 KHz

06:00 Newsdesk 06:30 Ramean and 06:00 Newsock west warmen and Couperin 06:45 Financial Review 06:55 Reflections 07:00 World News 07:09 British Press Review 07:15 Letterbox 07:30 Parade 07:45 Letter from America 08:00 Newsdesk 08:30 Counterpart rea 08:00 "NewSiesk 00:00 Counterpart 09:00 World News 00:00 News nboul Britain 09:15 From Our Own Cor-respondent 09:30 Sarah and Company 10:00 World News 10:09 Reflections 10:15 The Pleasure's Yours 11:00 World News 11:09 British Press Review 11:15 Pheasla and Politics 11:45 Sports Review People and Politics 11:45 Sports Review 12:15 Classical Record Review 12:30 Religious Service 13:06 World News 13:09 News About Britain 13:15 Letter from America 13:30 Baker's Half Dozen 15:00 World News 15:09 Com-mentary 15:15 Good Books 15:30 Short meniary 15:15 Good Books 15:30 Shoft Story 15:45 The Tony Myatt Request Show 16:30 Sci-Fi Prophet 17:00 Radio Newsreel 17:15 Concern Hall 18:00 World News 18:09 Commencary 18:15 From Our Own Correspondent 18:35 Financial Review 18:45 Letter from America 19:00 World News 19:09 Meridian 10:40 Reflections 19:45 Sportcall 20:00 World News 20:09 News about Britain 26:15 Radio Newsteel 20:30 Brain of Britain 1983 21:00 Parade 21:15 With Great Pleasure 22:00 World News 22:09 Commentary 22:15 Leiterbox 22:30 Sunday Half-Hour 23:00 Love and Mr. Lewisham 23:15 The Pleasure's Yours 24:00 World News 90:09 Science in Action 60:40 Reflections 00:45 Sportscall 61:00 World News 01:89 Commentary 01:15 Letter from America 01:30 Strictly Instrumental

VOICE OF AMERICA

KH: 1260, 5965, 7200, 15205, 11725 95;00 The Breakfast Show: 17:00 News and Topical Reports 17:15 New Hor-izons 17:30 Issues in the News 16:00 Special English News 18:10 Words and their Stories 18:15 Special English Fea-ture: People in America 18:30 Music USA: Standards 19:00 News and New USA: Samanus 19700 rews and New Products (USA) 19:15 Critics Choice 19:30 Studio One 20:00 Special English: News/Words and their stories, leasure "People in America" 20:30 Music USA nds) 21:00 News and Topica (Standards)
Reports 21:15 New Horizo 21:30 Issues in the News 22:00 Special English;
News/Words and their stories

WHAT'S GOING ON

TODAY'S EVENTS EXHIBITIONS

" Acryllics and Gouaches" by Nicole Massin at the French Cultural Centre. *These exhibitions are on at the Royal Columni Centre from 10:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m.

Treasures of Astronomy. Que'uns and bistlings. Images de L'Art Francais. Leonardo'n Working Models.

CONCERTS

American pianist William Nabore plays at Al-Waha ballroom, Amman Marriott Hotel, at 8:00 p.m. Free tickets from the American Centre.

lrish tenor Frank Patterson, acc ompanied on piano and harp by Eily O'Grady, sings at the Royal Cultural Centre at 8:00 p.m.

CULTURAL CENTRES

Royal Cultural Centre . Tel. 6	61026/7
American Centre	41520
British Council
French Cultural Centre	. 37009
Goethe Institute	41993
Soviet Cultural Centre	44203
Spanish Cultural Centre
Turkish Cultural Centre	3077
Haya Arts Centre
Hussein Youth City	66/181
Y.W.C.A
Y.W.M.A	664251
Amman Musicipal Library	. 36111
Amman Musicipal Library University of Jordan Library .	. 8435:
-	i.

MUSEUMS

Folklore Museum: Jewelry and cos-tumes over 100 years old. Also mosaics from Madaba and Jerash (4th to 18th centuries). The Roman Theatre, Amman. Opening hours: 9.00 a.m. - 5 p.m. Year-round. Tel. 51760. Jordan Archaeological Museum: Has an excellent collection of the antiquities of Jordan. Jabal Al Qain-(Citadel Hill).

Jordan. Jabal Al Qafn-(Citadel Hill).
Opening hours: 9,00 a.m. - 5,00 p.m.
[Fridays and official holidays I 0.00 a.m.
4.00 p.m.). Closed Tuesdays.
Jordan Nutional Gallery: Contains a collection of paintings, ceramics, and sculpture by contemporary Islamic artists from most of the Muslim countrieand a collection of paintings by 19th Century. from most of the Muslim countrieand a collection of paintings by 19th Century orientalist artists. Muntazah, Jabai Laweibdeh. Opening hours: 10.00 a.m. 1.30 p.m. and 3.30 p.m. - 6.00 p.m. Closed Tuesdays. Tel. 30128.

Military Museum: Collection of military memorabilis dating from the Arab Revolt of 1916. Sports City, Amman. Opening hours 9 a.m. 4 p.m. Closed Saturdays. Tel. 664240, Popular Life of Jordan Museum: 100 to 150 year old items such as costumes. 150 year old items such as costumes, weapons, musical instruments, etc. Opening hours: 9.00 a.m. - 5.00 p.m. Closed Tuesdays, Tel. 37169.

CHURCHES

St. Joseph Church (Roman Catholic) Jabai Amman, tel. 24590. Church of the Assumptation (Roman Catholic) Jabai Luweibdeh, 37440. De la Salle Church (Roman Catholic) Jabal Hussein, 661757. Church of the Amuniciation (Greek Orthodox) Abdali, 23541. Anglican Church of the Redeemer) Jabai Amman, 43453. Armenian Catholic Church Ashrafich, 71331. Armenian Orthodox Church Ashrafieh, 75261. St. Ephraim Church (Syrian Orthodox) Ashrafich, 71751. denominational): meets at Southern Baptist School in Shmeisani, 663249.

PRAYER TIMES

and the straight of the straig

11:40

and Church Unter-

(Sunrise) Shuruq Dhuhr

AMMAN AIRPORT

This information is supplied by Alia infsel. 92205-6, where it should always be

ARRIVALS Oar-es-Salam (BA)

08:55	Aqaba JRJI
09:15	Oubac Abu Dhabi [RJI
09:30	Jeddah RJI
09:45	Kuwait JRJ)
10:15	Beirui (RJ)
18:35	Ohahran, Riyadh (SV)
13:40	Kuwait [KU]
15:20	Jeddah (SV)
16:30
16:45	Athens [RJ]
16:55	Aqaba (RJ)
17:00	Brussels, Frankfurt [RJ]
17:15	New York, Vienna (RJ)
17:30	London (RJ)
18:15	Zurich (SR)
18:25
18:40	Casablança, Tunis [RJ]
19:00
19:05
19:30	Rome (RJ)
	Beirul MEA)
00:30
	Baghdad [RJI
01,40	Čairo (EA)

DEPARTURES

Cauro (RJ) 96:15 . Damascus, Frankfun (LH) . Aqaba (RJ) 07:40 07:50 . Cairo (EA Rome | Alitalia 99:05 Beirut (MEA) 10:30 10:45 Athens (R) 11:00 12:30 ... Amsterdam, New York | RJ) 12:45 Kuwait (KU) Aqaba (RJ) Jeddah (SV) 18:45 19:00 19:05 . Kuwait (RJ) Kowait (SR) Ohahran (RJ)

19:40 Bahrain, Doha [RJ] 20:15 Boghdad | RJ| 20:15 Cairo | EA| 21:15 Duban, Muscal | RJ|

FOR THE TRAVELLER

..... Cairo [EA]

MONEY EXCHANGE

Local sell buy rate:	in fils
Belgian franc	74.7
Dutch guilder 131.2	132
Egyptian guinea 313.5/	317.7
French franc	49.6
tragi dipar51%	52K.7
Italian lire (for 100) 24.8	25
Japanese yet (for 100) 149.60	150.5
Kuwaiti dinar 1227.3	1233.7
Lebanese lifa	No.4
Omani riyal 11/36.2	1045
Qatari nyal	178.7
Saudi myat 104/	114.6
Swedish crown	47.8
Swiss Iranc 171.97	172.9
Syrian lira	61.6
UAE dirham 97.2	47.9
Li.K. sterling pound 528.97	520.9
U.S. dollar 358.5	360.5
W. German mark 147.6/	148.5
W. October mark mining to the WEATHER

letin supplied by the Department of thwesterly moderate to fresh at times. Aqaba, it will be dusty, partly cloud with northerly moderate to fresh win and seas calm.	It will be partly cloudy scattered showers. Wi	nsds will be no

	Aqaba, a will be dust	ty, partiy cloud

Lowihigh temperature in	deg.C
Amman	9/15
Aqaba	18/27
Deserts	11/22
Jordan Valley

Yeslerday's high temperatures: Amman 18, Aqaba 29, Humidity rea-dings: Amman 63 per cent, Aqaba 31

USEFUL TELEPHONE MOS

EMERGENCIES Or. Zein Zaghloul

Fire beadquariers 22090-3 Police rescue 192, 21111, 37777 Police beadquariers 391141 Traffic police 56390-1 Electric Power Co. 36381-2 Municipal water service 71125-8

Hussem Memen Centre 913913-12
Khalidi Maternity, J. Amman 44281-4
Akleh Maternity, J. Amman 42441
Jabal Amman Moternity 42362
Malhas, J. Ammah 36140
Palestine, Shmeistni 664171-4
Shmeisani Hospital 669131- F
University Hospital 845845
Oar Al-Shifa, J. Hussein 667158
Al-Muasher Hospital 667227-9
The Islamic, Abdali 665292
Al-Ahli, Abdalı 664164
lialian, Al-Muhajreen 771111-3
Al-Bashir, J. Ashrafieh 75111
Army, Marka Plait
NIGHT DUTY

HOSPITALS

AMMAN: Or. Sa'id Rashid

Al Jihad pharmacy 71547
Vinecia taxi
Mihyar taxi 44574
Shmeisani taxi
Jordan Jasi
Amman taxt
Addiso lexi kiliminin ili ili ili ili ili ili ili ili ili
6.00
ZARQA:
Dr. Yahya Hajir 84 15.0
Al Ridha & Al Hindi pharmacy (-)
IRBID:
Dr. Hani Gharaibeh 2927
Al Ghazzawi pharmacy 73791
GENERAL.
GENERAL
Jordan Television 73111
Jordan Television
Iordan Television
fordan Television
Total Television
fordan Television

MARKET PRICES

Upper:lower price in fils per kg.	Grapefruit
Almond (Green)	Grape (white)
Almond (Syrian) 800 / 600	Grapes (black)
Apple American 500 - 450	Lemon 1847/15L
Apple (Double Red) 300 : 250	Mandarin
Apple (Golden)	Marrow [large]
Apple (Turkish)240 / 2(0)	Marrow (small)
Apple (French)	Onion dry1 13r1 - [18]
Apple (Starken) 3047/250	Onion (green)
Banana 270 220	Oranges
Banana [Mekammar] 230 / 200	Oranges (Mandarine) 320 256
Beans 900 / 800	Oranges [shamouti] 20a1. 15a
Beans [broad]	Oranges (local) 180 / [6]
Beets 150 / 12u	Peas 40t1 : 351
Cabbage	Pears (African) 450 400
Carrol 12(1.110)	Pears (Australian)
Cauliflower (white) 130 / 100	Peaches
Coconut	Pepper (Sweet)
Cucumber [large] 2211 · 1611	Pepper (Hot Green) 0001 / SQU
Cocumber (small) 360 . 300	Plums
Eggplam (large) 280 ; 320	Potatoes 180 / 150
Gartie	Radish 150 / 120

most spectacular steeplechase.

enters the final furlong this month with a last-gasp effort to secure its

With the May 1 deadline approaching fast, the appeal fund is still £1,500,000 ($2,190,000)

short of the £4,000,000

($5,840,000) needed to buy the Aintree course near Liverpool fund are hoping that the next two weeks-with the National itself

run on April 9 - will see that tar-raising its £2.500,000 ($3.650,000) share of the target needed to buy the 270-acre course from its present owner. Bill Dav-

And this week Lord Vesty, the appeal fund chairman. launched a final appeal to the public. "The next two weeks when the Grand

National is on everyone's mind are critical. We want everyone to pull

There is little doubt that the loss of the National, with its dash of romance and flair for producing fairviale endings, would be a bitter blow to the British sporting cal-

But its passing—should the target not be reached in the coming.

month-would be mourned in every comer of the world this great sporting showpiece has pen-

For race fans the National is the greatest show on earth with a huge field sening off over 41/2 miles

(7.25 kilometres) to do bartle with etrated.

Denging barriers.

out all the stops." he said.

The racine industry is close to get passed and the race saved.

But those involved with the

and keep the National alive.

survival.

Wilander, Purcell clash in French Open final

den's Mats Wilander won his 27th consecutive match on European clay courts Saturday to advance to the final of the Monte Carlo Tennis Open when he defeated Italy's Corrado Barazzutti 6-2, 6-3.

He will meet American Mel Purcell who won the other semifinal 6-3, 2-1 when Spain's Manuel Oranles retired.

Orantes. 34, who had ousted the number six seed. Yannick Noah of France 2-6, 7-6, 6-3 in a. quarter-final match played Saiurday morning, said he stopped because of fatigue.

"I was really very tired. My back and my leg were very stiff. I couldn't move at all," he said. Rain on Friday forced scheduling of three quarter-finals and the two semi-finals Saturday.

Orantes said be and Barzzutti. who also played Saturday morning, had asked tournament off-

Mexican Soccer Federation expresses satisfaction at FIFA's decision

MEXICO CITY (R) - Mexican Stockholm on May 20. soccer officials reacted with cautious optimism to the news that their country is almost certain to host the 1986 World Soccer Cup

"When they read me the news, my satisfaction was enormous," Rafael de Castillo, President of the Mexican Soccer Federation.

"But we can't be sure of hosting the cup until FIFA (the Intemational Football Federation) makes its final decision next month," he added. De Castillo was commenting on Thursday's announcement from FIFA that it would pursue only the Mexican application to host the fournament. The United States and Canada had also applied to stage the finals.

Guillermo Canedo, a Mexican vice-president of FIFA, said the findings of FIFA's special committee gave Mexico "a 90 to 95 per cent chance of hosting the

But he added that the country would bold back from launching the intricate planning for the month-long tournament until official word on the venue came from FIFA. They are due to announce the venue after their meeting in said.

icials to hold the semifinals Sun- said. "I tried to bring him to the day and the final on Monday but net to pass him. At the end, I think the request had been refused.

In his quarter-final. Barazzutti, ranked 138 in the world, upset the number two seed and world's fourth-ranked player. Guillermo Vilas of Argentina 2-6. 6-3. 6-4 in a three-hour match.

Barazzuni also complained of faugue in his contest with Wilander, held only an hour after his marathon against Vilas. He lost the first five games to the Swede.

Barazzutti, 30, among the world's 25 best players from 1975-78, won entry to the field of 32 in this prestigious leadoff toumament to the European clay season only hy advancing from the qualification rounds.

It was his first victory against Vilas in seven career meetings.

"My tactic was to slice short to Vilas's backhand hecause his forehand is very good," Barazzutui

Meanwhile in London, Football

Association (F.A.) Secretary Ted

Croker: said Saturday that England are almost certain to apply to the International Football Federation (FIFA) to stage the 1986

event coming back to Europe then would hope that England would

Croker was speaking two days after FIFA's statement that its special committee would continue to investigate only the Mexican application to host the finals, virtually ending Canadian and United States' bopes.

A final decision will be made by

FIFA's executive committee in

Stockholm on May 20, but Croker said: "Mexico does not seem to be the complete answer, bearing in mind that they staged the finals in

"If there is a possibility of the World Soccer Cup finals.

be in cootention," he said.

Purcell said that although it is not normally his style, he plans an aggressive game against Wilander. "I can't see myself staying back and hitting with Wilander for five sets. I'll count on my speed to get in good position at the net."

he was more tired than I was. He for his match with the Italian. having dispatched Henri Leconte of France 7-5, 6-0 in a 90-minute

quarter final Saturday morning.

Wilander's last loss on European clay was to Andres Gomez

of Ecuador io the Italian Open last

May. During this victory string. he became the voungest player, at 17.

Purcell may be in the best condition of the two for the final. He completed his quarterfinal Friday,

ousting Shlomo Glickstein of Israel, 6-0, 7-6 before his shortened

only once, and he recalls that "I never ran around as much in my life. It was in Hamburg two years ago and Wilander was I 6. He beat me 7-5, 7-5. Now he's much str-

Purcell, 23, has met Wilander contest with Orantes.

to capture the French Open.

Wilander was relatively fresh missed three easy shots."

The American is ranked 30th in the world and Wilander eighth.

Borg will be back, King says

YOKOHAMA, Japan (R) -Billie-Jean King, one of the world's greatest female tennis plavers, predicted Saturday that Sweden's Biorn Borg may make a.

comeback from retirement. "I think it is great for him to retire." said King, 39, who made her debut in competitive tennis 22 years ago.

"He can take time off from practice. running and training. He does not have to do anything after getting up," she said.

But after he takes time off, and if he loves tennis, then he will come back.

Borg. 26. winner of five successive Wimbledon tennis titles between 1976 and 1980, played his last competitive match Thursday when he was defeated io three sets by France's Henri Leconte in the second round of the Monte Carlo Open.

King was speaking after she and fellow-American Sharon Walsh defeated second-seeded Rosie Casals of the United States and Wendy Turnbull of Australia 3-6. 6-3. 7-5 in the first round of an international women's doubles tournament here.

Oxford wins Boat Race

LONDON (R) - Oxford beat Cambridge for the eighth successive year in the University Boat Race on the River Thames here

The Dark Blues' weight advantage was apparent from the start of the traditional four miles 374 yards (seven kilometres) test from Pumey to Mortlake. They led from the start and finished a comfortable four and a half lengths clear in a time of 19 minutes seven seconds. Cambridge trailed home ia 19:20.

1970 and the economic, heat and beight problems that exist in the The 129th contest held in difficult, choppy conditions left Oxf-"It seems that Mexico has come ord with 60 wins but Cambridge into the running quite recently and remain ahead on 68. There has I am surprised that they are major been one dead heat since Engcontenders. I feel quite a lot of land's two best-known uniwater will bave to flow under the versities first met on the tideway in bridge before they get the cup," be

Race preparations were marred

by a bitter wrangle over the eligibility of Oxford Oarsman Boris

College lecturer and research

LONDON (R) — The race to save and wide to throw themselves over fences up to four metres high al the Grand National, the world's speeds in excess of 30 miles per hour (nearly 50 kph).

enters the final furlong

Race to save Grand National

All Aintree's 16 fences have to be tackled -- 14 of them twice -and awesome reputations enhance their sheer size.

Over the 145 years' history of the race they have acquired innocuous sounding names like the Chair, Becher's Brook, Val-entines and Canal Turn. Each may sound harmless enough--but each packs a surprise capable of ending even the most accomplished steeplechaser's bid for glory.

Race, fences become legend

Just as Aintree, the race and its huge fences have all become legend, so too have the gladiators men and horses -- who risk life and limb for National success.

They have come from every far-flung corner of the world. The French won it in 1862 and 1909 and two Russian horses failed dismally in 1961.

The Americans have also had their say. Their first winner was Rubio in 1908, bred on a ranch in California, and 30 years later Tiny Battleship, the size of a pony, stole the show.

Perhaps the most amazing tale of all though heralds from New Zealand where, in 1904, a ship set sail for Liverpool carrying the buge Moiffa.

The ship never made it, going down off the Irish coast, but Moiffa swam ashore and eventually made it to Aintree and pulled off a fantastic victory. Shipwrecks apart, the risks inv-

30 of steeplecbasing's most chaolved in successfully negotiating The failure rate is bigh with Aintree are such that even the usually only around one quarter of remotest outsider cannot be writhe field finishing the gruelling tten off before the last fence has race. And yet they come from far

But even then this race has a habit of turning the logical world on its head. In 1956 Devon Lock flew over the final flight well clear and Dick Francis pushed the horse towards what should have been certain victory.

But 100 metres out Devon Lock collapsed, his legs spreadeagled. and ESB cantered past and home to victory. It was a cruel turn of events so typical of the National. Perhaps the luckiest winner of all was 100-1 shot Foinavon in 1967. He was so far behind by the 23rd fence he missed the chaos caused when a loose horse ran across the leaders and brought the whole field to a standstill. It seems, like ESB 11 years earlier. Foinavon's name was on the trophy even before the off. He picked bis way through the debris and came home leisurely to win.

His chances of winning had been rated so poorly before the start that both his owner and trainer were not at Aintree on that day 16 years ago. Both watched their success on television - one at home and the other in the weighing room at Worcester racecourse.

In more recent years the race has tended to feature more incidents of good luck rather than

In Red Rum, who won the race in 1973, 1974 and 1977 and also finished second on two other occasions, there was a horse which, for the first time ever, looked to have the measure of Aintree. The treble had never been achieved before and this famous horse captured the hearts of the nation as it took on -- and beat -everything Aintree could offer,

Now 18-years-old and long since retired from the track. Red Rum continues to make the National bis own. Though he no longer takes an active interest. Red

Rum tours the country raising cash to the appeal fund and often leading the parade on Grand National day.

Few could have failed to be moved too by the sight of Rob Champion two years ago bringing home Aldaniti, once a horse hopclessly broken down, only months after conquering cancer himself. It was a result fiction writers would have dismissed as farfetched.

And last year Dick Saunders rode Grittar, a horse owned, trained and bred by a neighbouring farmer, to yet another surprise

The win made Saunders the oldest man ever to win the National and only the third amateur to do so since the war. But though Grittar lines up again this year and is favourite to repeat his win Saunders, who announced his retirement after last year's triumph, has decided against climbing back in the saddle for another bash. "To have ridden Grittar in a race once again would have been a . thrill and to have ridden him round Aintree specially so," he "But it would have been a dreadful anti-climax if I had fallen off at the first fence." This year's fairytale ending could be supplied by Spartan Missile, out of action with a leg injury for 23 months, but now back in his Spartan Missile finished second in the National two years ago to Aldaniti, But Jockey John Thome died in a riding accident just weeks after that great run. Or maybe a woman will triumph for the first time in this most demanding steeplechase. The Grand National has a habit of turning up surprises when they are least exp-

Spencer again the man to beat at French Grand Prix

LE MANS, France (R) - Freddie injuries as both riders catapulted Barry Sheene of Britain. Spencer, the young American who won the opening 500cc World Championship race in South Africa on March 19, will again be the man to beat in the French Motorcycling Grand Prix on Sunday.

Spencer, 21, known as "Fast Freddie" by his Honda tea-mmates, has never raced in France before and the twisting Bugatti circuit will be a major challenge for the Louisiana-born rider. The circuit has already claimed one victim in the run up to Sunday's race. Suzuki works rider Iwao Ishikawa died in hospital from head injuries on Tuesday after he and teammate Loris Reggiani crashed at the La Chapelle

Reggiani suffered leg and arm the main focus of attention will be

into the safety fence.

Spencer's main challenge is likely to come from triple-world champion Kenny Roberts of the United States, who started serious practice on his water-cooled Yamaha Thursday.

Most riders were spending Friday adjusting the suspension of their machines to the Bugatti course and final tuning of engines.

The 500cc field will also include world champion Franco Uncini of Italy, a disappointing seventh in South Africa, his Suzuki teammate Randy Mamola of the United States and Yamaha pair, France's Marc Fontan and American Eddie Lawson.

But challenging all the riders for

The former world champion shattered both his legs in a terrible crash last year, and surgeons initially said he would never ride again. But with his legs pinned and straigthened Sheene gained a world championship point by finishing 10th in South Africa.

The organisers of the French Grand Prix have altered the Bugatti course this year slightly straightening out the "Bleu" S-bend and widening the track in front of the grandstand.

Most riders said after the opening round of practice that they thought the changes would make a difference to lap times of several hundredths of a second--an app-reciable margin in today's highpowered races.

student Rankov rowed in Oxford's last five winning crews. but Cambridge claimed he was meligible because of his professional post-graduate status. The row was settled in Rankov's favour three

Soviet referees to crack down on soccer discipline

By Brian Killen

histrionics, and eventually the referee reached for a yellow card.

With snow thawing in soccer stadiums throughout the Soviet Union, turnstiles started clicking last Saturday at the beginning of a new league season in which referees and administrators are likely to crack down on discipline. Grachev, a winger for the Doo-etsk side Shakhtyor, received his warning in a quarterfinal cup tie against Moscow Dynamo. "Unsporting behaviour, such as that indulged in by Viktor Grachev at the Tashkent stadium, is invariably talked about and condemned-but how can it be prevented?" the youth newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda asked.

successful foreign swimmer.

E.Germans dominate swimming meet

But the two second places were enough to make him the most tone of the article reflect deep concern among Soviet soccer off-MOSCOW - Viktor Grachev icials about the state of the game writhed on the grass in apparent here after 1982 turned out to be seasons. Last year should bave been a successful World Cup year for the Soviet Union, but the finals in Spain led to a harrage of press cri-Konstantin Beskov. 61, the Soviet Union's most successful manager, decided to step down as coach of the national eleven amid reports that he had argued over strategy with assistant coaches Valery Lohanovsky and Nodar Akhalkatsi. Beskov said he quit of his own accord, but there was speculation that a high-level decision had been taken to replace him with Dynamo Kiev manager Lobanovsky.

Commenting on Beskov's dep-The question and the outraged arture, the newspaper Lit-

EAST BERLIN (R) - East German swimmers won every event on the second day of a two-day swimming international here Saturday. West Germany's European 200-metre freestyle record holder Michael Gross, who lost the event to East German Dirk Richter Friday, again had to be satisfied with finishing runnerup Saturday when Torsten Karl beat him by over a second in the 200 metres eraturnaya Gazeta said: "For the incompetence of the coach, if there really was any, those who showed incompetence in appagony, supporters whistled at his one of the country's most troubled ointing him should be made to

Last September, a deputy chief of the Communist Party Publicity Department Mara: Gramov mades a key speech on the state of Soviet Since then, Gramov bas taken over from Sergei Pavlov as head of the powerful sports committee in a move which could be raid a wind of change in Soviet soccer. Gramov has already given the go-ahead for new regulations which place greater restrictions on player movements between clubs and since his appointment earlier this year several press articles have analysed problems and mooted reforms. One problem hinted at in the Soviet press appears to be that of match-rigging and corruption among referees.

"The refereeing profession carries a heavy responsibility and deprives football machinators of the possibility of influencing it (the game) morally and materially," one sports writer commented in an article earlier this

Another newspaper said a player in the Soviet third division was expelled from the league for trying to influence the outcome of a match by collecting money from his teammates and offering it as a bribe to the opposition.

In January Literaturnaya Gaz-eta bighlighted the problem by suggesting that the outcome of last year's championship bad been pre-arranged. "What oracle, tell us, could bave predicted the results of the two final, unusually happy, days of the championship when those who had to win did?" Commentator Yuri Rost asked.

Dynamo Minsk lifted the title after beating Moscow Spartak 4-3. In their previous match they bammered Dynamo Moscow 7-0. despite playing on the indoor sur-face where their opponents train regularly. Rost said.

On the final day, Dynamo Kiev needed only to beat Ararat of Fn ynan to leave the championship banging on the outcome of the match between Spartak and Minsk.

Ararat, having already secured fifth placing after a 6-1 victory against Chernomorets who had nothing to lose or gain, did not exert themselves against Kiev and lost 3-2, Rost said

In an apparent reference to rumours of rivalry over the national squad between Spartak manager Beskov and Kiev boss Lobanovsky, the Literaturnava Gazeta commentator added that Minsk beal Spartak 4-3 "leaving Lobanovsky with nothing". Rost said footballers, coaches.

playing games with the public. The coming season has been described as "a new life", but uncertainty clouds the future of Soviet Reports continue to appear of biased and corrupt officials. Last year Torpedo Vladimir were expelled from the league for boosting the wage packets of their star players by giving them "ghost" jobs with a local factory. Soccer is an amateur sport in the Soviet Union and players must have full-time jobs elsewhere, although top players would not normaily be expected to attend them. Commentators avoid advocating 'professionalism' but some privately admit that players need more financial incentive. They criticise footballers for taking too seriously the principle of it being "more important to take part than to win" and some point accusing fingers at the col-lectivist approach espoused in Soviet soccer manuals. Looking forward to the newseason, one remarked "we have had enough of playing in football, now let's play at football."

THE BRITISH COUNCIL المجلس الثقافي البريطافي ENGLISH CLASSES

The British Council announces the commencement of the new term on 9th April 1983. Classes are for adults, aged 17 and over.

Date of term : 9th April - 22nd June Time of classes: Afternoons and evenings. Ladies classes in the mornings. : JD 29

Testing and registration will take place from April 3rd - 6th at the following times:

Testing 9:00 - 11:00 and 3:00 - 5:00 Registration 9:00 - 12:00 and 3:30 - 5:30 A fee of JD 0.500 will be charged for testing.

British Council Rainbow Street, off. First Circle Tel-35147/8

Has vacancies for the following positions to implement its projects in Jordan and Iraq.

1 - Area Managers

Civil Engineering Degree with minimum 10 years experience with con-

Experience should include a position of a similar nature and or extensive experience as project manager, project engineer, estimator... etc.

2 - Project Managers

Civil Engineering Degree with minimum 10 years experience working for contractors, must have proven past experience as project manager in huilding and/or other civil works.

Applicants from outside Jordan should send their applications to:

Salaries and remonerations are rewarding and competitive.

ICICO - P.O. Box 19170 Amman - Jordan

Applications will be dealt with confidentially.

Aitn: Construction Manager Applicants from Jordan should contact office of construction manager Tel: 666133,4 - 666917 ext. 240 - for an interview.

THE BRITISH COUNCIL المجلس التقافي البريطاني

Dates of term : 9th April - 22nd June Times of classes: Mornings Fee : JD 29.

Registration will take place from 3rd - 6th April from 9:00 - 12:00 and 3:30 - 5:30 p.m.

British Council

ARABIC CLASSES

The British Council announces the commencement of the new term on 3rd April. Classes will be offered at two levels.

Rainbow Street, off First Circle Tel. 36147/8

- FURNISHED FLAT FOR RENT —

Consists of two bedrooms, salon, dining room, spacious kitchen, two bathrooms, with excellent furniture, central heating and independent entrance and garden. Location: Shmeisani/ near the Yugoslav embassy.

Call tel: 661658/ Amman after 10 a.m.

TECHNICIAN WANTED

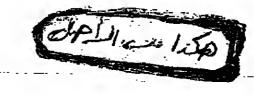

to operate EXTRUDER machines for the manufacture of plastic pipes used in agriculture. Salary commensurates: with experience and efficiency. Call in person at Al Shira' Agricultural Company, opposite the central agricultural

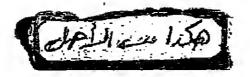

FURNISHED APARTMENTS FOR RENT Deluxe furnished apartments consisting of two and three market or write to P.O. Box 20689, Amman.

For information, 669236, 668513 Commodore Hotel bedrooms, central heating and telephones also available.

ECONOMY

Western experts foresee economic stability in Somalia

MOGADISHU (R) — Somalia, helped by foreign aid and free oil from Saudi Arabia, should achieve relative economic stability within a few years. Western specialists say.

Know for many years as the "graveyard for foreign aid" this country stretched along the coast of the Indian Ocean and the Gulf of Aden at the Horn of Africa is now adhering strictly to Intemational Monetary Fund (IMF) aid conditions.

Around three-quarters of the country's population of some five million are partly or wholly nomadic and precise figures about the country's economy are hard to compile and sometimes contradictory, foreign embassies say. The export of livestnck such as camels, goats and cows brought in 80 per cent of Somalia's export earnings totalling $138 million last year, according to the emb-

Figures of defence spending for Somalia's approximately 60,000strong armed forces are hard to come by. But some Western experts pirt the sum at between 55 per cent and 80 per cent of all government spending, a huge portion for one of the world's poorest

Much help comes from abroad and foreign aid in 1981 was estimated at around $181 million. The U.S. is expected to contribute $130 million in 1983, just under a third of which will be for defence expenditure, foreign emhassies say.

One hig source of aid is nearby Saudi Arabia which provides for free the estimated 300,000 to 350,000 tonnes of oil consumed by Somalia each year. At the current Saudi benchmark price of 529 a barrel, the gift is worth between $64 and $75 million a year.

Somalia has a hig foreign deht.

$30 a barrel.

remain unchanged.

Nigeria's decision

THE BETTER HALF,

Kuwaiti oil minister praises

KUWATT (R) - Kuwaiti Oil Minister Ali Al Khalifa Al Sahah

Saturday praised Nigeria's decision to leave its oil prices unchanged

despite a proposed cut in the price of competing British North Sea

He told the Kuwaiti daily newspaper Al Rai Al Aam that the Nigerian decision was a wise step which confirmed the African country's farsightedness on the important issue of oil prices.

State-owned British National Oil Corporation proposed limited cuts of 50 to 75 cents a harrel in the price of North Sea Brent oil on Wednesday, to match Nigeria's marker crude, Bonny light, priced at

Nigeria said later the cuts were broadly in line with Nigerian and

OPEC thinking and the prices of Nigerian crude would therefore estimated for 1981 at $1.35 billion up from $906 million two years

Debt servicing for 1982 was projected around $46 million. Following IMF conditions for aid, Somalia twice devalued the shilling (current calue: 15 to one dollar) since mid-1981.

This resulted, according to an internal Western embassy report, in a considerable reduction in inf-

"From May 1981 to May 1982; the official Mogadishn consumer price index rose by only 21 per cent... a significant improvement over the 67 per cent increase from January to December 1980," it

Per capita gross national product rose over 20 per cent to $365 a year in 1981 from $303 in 1980,

Western specialists based here speak glowingly of Somali toughness and initiative.

They say that increased liberalisation of the economy and continued foreign aid should achieve relative economic stability within a few years.

Apart from international loans. funds are also send home by an estimated 250,000 Somalis who work in Gulf states, mainly Saudi Somali officials are divided on the benefits of having so many nationals outside the country. This is because many of the Somalis in Saudi Arabia are professionals who leave their country after school, creating a "brain drain".

Despite help from many international relief groups, Somalia is saddled with one of the world's higgest refugee problems created by the exodus of ethnic Somalis from the Ogaden.

Somalia puts their number at 1.5 million though aid groups

By Harris

Warsaw ensures increased food supply for Easter

WARSAW (R) - Polish authorities Friday gave Easter shoppers optimistic news on meat and sugar supplies which contrasted with recent dire warnings of even further cuts in living standards.

The official PAP news agency said meat supplies would be 6,000 tonnes higher than originally plaaned in the second quarter of the year and supplies in the first qua-rter were 13,000 tonnes higher than projected.

The increase this month was due mainly to extra supplies for Easter, one of this Catholic nation's main festivals.

There has been growing concern about maintaining the meat ration level of 2.5 kg (5.5 lbs) per month later in the year as the animal population declines due to a high slaughter rate.

PAP said supplies of sugar and alcohol, for which rationing was ended last month, were also increasing and grain supplies to the market would be maintained at the present levels.

The agency also gave encouraging figures on coal extracton, mainstay of the ,economy. It said 47.5 million tonnes of coal were mined in the first quarter, a 100-per cent increase over the; same period last year which followed the imposition of martial

HAVANA (R) — One year after opening its doors to foreign capitalist investment, communist

Cuha is still waiting for investors.

In February last year the council of ministers passed a joint ventures law which was seen hy diplomats here as a sign that Cuba's need for hard currency outweighed any possible ideological cribed it at the time as one of the most important economic policy moves since Cuha established communism under President Fidel

But a survey by Reuters of the embassies of Cuba's main capitalist trading partners - Canada.

France, Spain, Japan and Britain

-- indicated that not one foreign company had taken advantage of Cuban officials were reluctant to comment but diplomats in close contact with the ministries involved said they were disappointed

by the lack of response.

Castro more than 20 years ago.

government official des-misgivings.

Poles have been repeatedly warned of further cuts in living standards following the drop of more than 20 per cent in 1982.

The Communist Party called a special meeting of about 2,300 workers in the capital on Wednesday to explain and try to justify austerity plans aimed at cutting waste, fighting inflation and putting the chaotic economy on a sounder footing.

Prime Minister Wojciech Jaruzelski told the meeting of concrete schemes to get more work done, raise production and ease the chronic supply shortages. They included encouraging retired people to resume work for a number of years to counteract a shortage of manpower in many key industries. Young people were asked to work on days off or vacations and to enter schemes with management to use the extra pay and profits for new bousing pro-

Gen. Jaruzelski, whose speech was carried by the official newspapers Friday, attacked those who refused to commit themselves to working for Poland's recovery under the existing system.

"You cannot sit socialism out To wait today means to retreat, to act against the country's int-'erests," he said.

to encourage ventures similar to those that exist in many non-communist developing countries hut without any possibility of

"sweat shop" conditions; acc-

No foreign company would be allowed to hold more than 49 per cent of the shares and Cuban workers would receive all the benefits they are used to in purely state

The investing company is allowed to appoint its own executives, define production and sales plans, fix prices, export and import directly and select per-

It also guarantees un hindered movement of hard currency, exempts the joint venture from import duties, and limits tax on profits

"For example, the law allows such ventures as foreign fast-food chains to operate outlets in major tourist hotels," one official said.

sonnel, according to the law.

to 30 per cent or less.

ording to the government.

concerns.

Cuba is still waiting for investors

The law was hasically designed Cuba's dwindling hard currency

French parliament convenes

PARIS (R) - The French parliament convened briefly Saturday in advance of a spring session in which the socialist government will defend its controversial austerity plan.

Despite continued criticism of the plan from left-wing trade union leaders, national assembly speaker Mr. Louis Mermaz said Saturday he did not expect defections among the leftist majority when the measures are put to parliament on April 6.

Block favours early talks on U.S. grain sales agreement with USSR

ROME (R) - U.S. Agriculture Secretary John Block said Saturday he favoured an early resumption of talks on a new U.S. grain sales agreement with the Soviet Union. "I consider it a high priority that we write a new agreement soon." Mr. Block told Reuters in an interview. "Oct. 1 will be here before we know it," he added, referring to the expiry date of the present agreement.

Speaking at the end of a 10-day export promotion tour of North Africa and the Middle East, the cahinet officer said extending the present agreement for another year was not practical.

He noted it had already been extended twice, for one year each

Mr. Block said he would like to markets in the Middle East have see a higher minimum sales level specified in any new agreement, but declined to give a figure.

The minimum under the current agreement is six million tonnes per

Mr. Block said his visits to Tunisia, Egypt, Saudi Arebia and Turkey were aimed at drumming up interest in U.S. agricultural exports, and were not designed specifically to influence talks with the European Economic Community on farm subsidies. "But the trip demonstrates that the U.S. is not going to sit back and watch. We are going to be aggressive in seeking markets all over the world." he added.

The United States complains that farm exports to its traditional been hurt by an unfair community subsidies policy.

Mr. Block earlier told reporters in Ankara, the last stop on his tour, that he thought his trip had helped to promote sanity in world agricultural trade.

"It boggles the mind that we pay producers not to produce, while some of these countries pay them to produce more. We really need to get together, and I think this trip will have helped," he said.

Commenting on his trip to Ankara, Mr. Block noted that, because Turkey was nearly selfsufficient in food production, it did not appear to be an important market for U.S. farm produce.

But he said Turkey could be on the thrust of the Saudi drive towards self-sifficiency in wheat pro-The kingdom has agreed to rec-

the verge of a major expansion of its feedgrain imports, because of Middle East.

an increase in meat exports to the

Of his visit to Saudi Arabia, the U.S. secretary said: "I think we have positioned ourselves to hlunt

onsider its self-sufficiency policy in view of U.S. assurances of secure supplies of wheat and other

U.S. figures show that the kingdom's policy of heavily subsidising wheat farmers has led to a halving of annual Saudi imports of U.S. wheat and flour since 1979-

Japan to try to stimulate economy

TOKYO (R) - Japan's ruling see Japan join its industrial par-Liberal Democratic Party, faced with two elections, is assembling a package of economic measures to try to stimulate the economy.

Political observers expect details to be announced this month hut all eyes are on the country's central bank to see if the politicians can convince the bankers to cut the discount rate and thus provide a bright spot in what otherwise is likely to be a lacklustre list of measures.

While there are flickering signs of an end to the economic recession in Europe and the United States, Japanese companies are heset by poor export earnings and little activity in the domestic mar-

The government would like to reserves - estimated officially at less than $100 million - has fai-

"Cuha could not have picked a worse time to launch what might in the long term prove to be a successful scheme," the commercial attache of a Western emhassy told

Diplomats here pointed to a number of reasons for the lack of response even in areas such as tourism and electrical industries which appear the most suitable for with Cuba's rescheduling of $1.3

hillion of its foreign debts, thus effectively halting most commercial dealings with the West.

discouraged companies throughout the capitalist world from embarking on any possibly risky

- The law virtually coincided

- The world-wide slump has

- There is still a lack of Western confidence in a government which led to materialise.

such ventures.

capital ventures.

But the hoped-for boost to is so closely linked to the Soviet tners in sharing the expected economic revival, especially since there are local elections later this month and the more important elections to the upper house of parliament in June.

Pressure on the hank hy the government will grow if Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone also decides to hold elections to the lower house, a decision political observers say is a possibility. However, the government faces considerable difficulties Faced with a budget deficit in the spending plan for the fiscal technical expertise.

in practice.

diplomat said.

year 1983, which started Friday, the government will have to borrow some 13,000 hillion ven ($54 billion) to balance its books, so there is little additional spending

-- Cuha has no ready-made reg-

The diplomats also said the Cuhans, unused to capitalist investment for more than 20 years,

still had not worked out the fine

details of bow the law would work

'A group of visiting businessmen closely questioned commerce ministry officials on the new law last year and some of the answers left them unconvinced," a

But diplomais whose work includes the encouraging of commercial links between their countries and Cuba agreed that the

"If Cuba can get its debt problems sorted out and the world economy makes an upturn then foreign interest in the new law will undoubtedly increase," one said.

scheme held some promise.

ional market because of its political isolation and the U.S. trade

Some of the measures expected in the package are a relaxation of householding development area plans, some attempts to promote capital investment by small companies and the provision of more agricultural land for industrial use. But economists say these only amount to tinkering with the eco-

The real question is whether the Bank of Japan, the central bank, will reduce the 5.5 per cent discount rate -- therates at which it lends money to commercial hanks against government-guaranteed

Banking sources say a reduction in the discount rate would trigger a widespread fall in other Japanese interest rates and the major benefits would flow to small companies, which carry a heavy borrowing burden. But officials at the central bank are far from happy at the idea. While politicians, worried . Union through politics, trade and about votes, accuse the hank of being too cautious, its governor Mr. Harvo Maekawa is concerned about the value of the yen.

The bank's guidance of a steady monetary policy has brought the Mackawa inflation rate down to less than Nakasone.

power available for increasing two per cent. With the country still managing trade surpluses during the world recession, the yen has for over a year been regarded as undervalued on the foreign exchange markets.

> Some economists hoped last year that the hasic economic strength of Japan would take the exchange rate against the dollar to But the strength of the dollar, first due to high U.S, interest rates and then as a safe haven during the world debt crisis, has ended those The yen has been trading around 240 to the dollar for some weeks now, but banking sources said Mr. Maekawa feels a rate of about 220 would be more appropriate. The central hank sees a reduction in Japanese interest rates as serving only to aggravate the problem and has a very real worry that such action could trigger sales of Japanese stocks and bonds by oil-producing countries hurt by falling oil prices.

The divergent views were discussed a few days ago at a meeting behind closed doors hetween Mr. Mackawa and Prime Minister

16 Map for

25 Plumbed

26 Protective

27 A Gardnar

30 Not at all axperienced

32 Attempted

28 Pert of 33 Young

herring 34 Rational

36 in a fooliah way

Certain

relunds

material

Soapstone 46 Preen Richards

of tennis

48 Modem

Seethe

Conclusion

24 Epoch

HOROSCOPE NOT RECEIVED

THE Daily Crossword By Lois Sidway

49 Sword

50 Patch

52 Greek

58 Bare

55 Everywhere

60 Wax eloquent

61 Caresses

city 63 Old World

falcon

DOWN

62 Arizona

16 Tied

ACROSS 26 Rugged additive 29 "Tampest 51 — lizard 6 Landed character 30 Dour

31 U-boats

36 City on the

37 FDR org.

38 Hopper

40 Draw a

41 Franch

miliau

sculpto

35 Sort

bath or brain

indian 15 Elegant

here 17 Everywhere

21 Burlor Charles

22 Twist, lor 23 Washes

43 Ha wrote 25 Merchants 26 Maureen or

46 She, a.g. Yesterday'a Puzzte Solved:

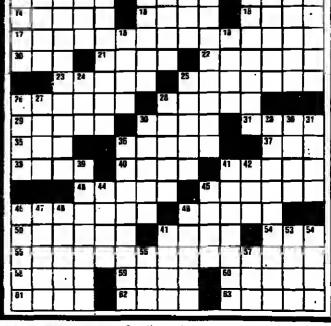

"Peer Gynt" 1 Lather 45 Cylindrical 2 Capri, a.g. and taper-3 Gultar's relative 4 Self-esteer 5 Broadway offaring

— moi le 7 Quite a lew 6 Somewhat: 6 Propos Dream'

10 Exploding mateors (King) 12 Kitche

İtalian eity Horrible 53 Monay in the pot 54 Addlet 56 Debtor's mark 57 "- Yankee Doodle...

© 1983 Trihune Company Syndicate, Inc. All Righls Reserved

Peanuts

the legislation.

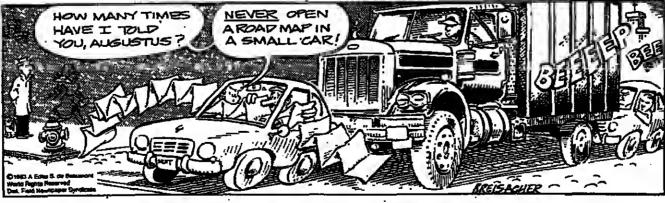

Mutt 'n' Jeff

The court we away to be produced to the court of the court of the first of the court of the cour

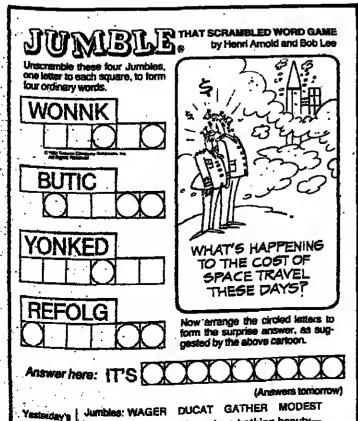

Andy Capp

Answer: What to do to make a bathing beauty-JUST ADD WATER

'No, Molly, it's not a book about singles bars."

Moscow rejects Reagan's offer

MOSCOW (R) - Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko Saturday rejected President Reagan's offer of an interim agreement on Speaking at his first Moscow press conference for four years. Mr. Gromyko declared: "The so-called interim variant, as the president

The foreign minister said Washington was blocking agreement by insisting on excluding U.S. aircraft in Europe from the Geneva talks on medium-range weapons, by refusing to count British and French missiles in the East- West balance and by insisting on including Soviet

Although firmly rejecting the American proposal announced by Mr. Reagan lası Wednesday, Mr. Gromyko avoided sbarp criticism of the U.S. leader and appeared anxious to adopt a tone of mod-

On Wednesday Mr. Reagan called for Moscow and Washington to agree to parity between the number of Soviet and American medieum range missile warheads.

Mr. Gromyko indicated that Moscow did not object to counting warneads, which he described as a more exact method of expressing the power of nuclear weapons than counting launchers.

But he said the Reagan proposal was "not intended to facilitate agreement" at the Geneva talks. He said the U.S. should not expect Moscow to cave in under pressure and make concessions at the last minute.

However, he appeared to back away from earlier threats by the Kremlin to break off the Geneva talks at the end of this year if there was no agreement and the U.S. began its planned deployment of Cruise and Pershing II missiles in Western Europe.

when deployments started, he replied: "This would be an adverse factor for Europe and the world as a whole and the situation would be such that we will have to consider it most carefully taking into account all factors, and take a corresponding decision.

in NATO countries, which be said was not being properly informed about the real issues.

He spelled out Moscow's three main objections to the plan as

1) The U.S. position left out land-based and carrier-based American

Mr. Gromyko said this was as absurd as to say a ballistic missile was barmless because it could be used for meterological studies. He said the Soviet Union could not close its eyes to the presence

British peace movement

CND termed the action a victory for commitment and democracy. But Defence Secretary

Michael Heseltine, returning from a visit to the Berlin Wall, said the protesters were following a naive and reckless road' and would "strengthen the Kremlin case" in the nuclear arms debate.

aning to move to Scotland for a mass rally at Faslane, the Polaris

submarine base on the River

The West German peace mov-

Easter protests in earnest when it

Saturday, protesters were plastages gigantic protest

GREENHAM COMMON, England (R) - Tens of thousands of protesters formed a 22 kilometres human chain linking three nuclear arms centres in one of the most spectacular of the Easter demonstrations against nuclear wea-

The Campaign for Nuclear Dis-armament (CND) said more than 70.000 people took part in Friday's symbolic attempt to "break the nuclear chain". Police put the places, stretched from Greenham first NATO Cruise missiles are uments which declare support for

BY CHARLES GOREN

©1982 Tribune Company Syndicale, Inc.

Q.1-Both vulnerable, as

$AJ72 773 ♦ AKQ1065 48

The bidding bas proceeded:

West North East Snuth

What action do you take?

Q.2-East-West vulnerable,

QAJ10764 ♥7 ♦ J105 ◆985

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North

What action do you take?

Q.3-Neither vulnerable, as

A TJ10 ◊AJ9842 ♣J1062

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♥ Pass 2 ♦ Pass

24 37 34

1 ♥ Pass 2 ♥ ?

as South you bold:

40 ?

*preemptive

South you hold:

2 ♥ Pass ?

South you hold:

ghfield nuclear arms factory.

The protesters, up to six deep in number at 40,000.

around Europe of at least six American aircraft carriers with some 40

3) The U.S. was making agreement impossible by insisting on serapping Soviet missiles in Asia.

medium-range U.S. nuclear weapons in Japan. South Korea and oo the Indian Ocean island of Diego Garcia.

He said these forces were in range of all of Siberia and Soviet Asia. He said that if there was an agreement in the Geneva talks Moscow was ready to withdraw some of its missiles to Asia, out of range of

He made no mention, however, of the possibility of such missiles

Mr. Gromyko said Moscow was sbowing flexibility and generosity in the missile negotiations by not insisting on compensation for geographical factors which gave the U.S. an intrinsic advantage.

He said American missiles in Western Europe would be able to reach Soviet territory in one-sixth of the time it took for a Soviet missile to reach the U.S.

deployment by stationing its own missiles close to the United States but said the Soviet Union would "take measures to protect its legrecent broadcast as an empire of evil. Mr. Gromyko said such rem-

NATO says Soviet reaction disappointing

BRUSSELS (R) - NATO officials described Saturday's Soviet rejection of President Reagan's proposal for an interim nuclear arms limitation agreement as disappointing but not necessarily the last

They said it was still 100 early to gauge whether the Soviet reaction was aimed at Western public opinion or reflected the full thinking of

The officials said privately that the acid test for Soviet response to the U.S. plan would come when the missile talks in Geneva reconvened after the Easter recess.

American convicted of spying for Libya

BERNE (R) - Alexandrea Lincoln. American resident in Berne. has been convicted of spying for Lihya, her lawyer said.

Hans Wild told Reuters Friday she was sentenced at a closed trial nn Monday of last week.

Miss Lincoln, 30. who formerely worked in the bar of a top Berne Hotel, was found guilry of gathering information from Swiss Members of Parliament and government officials and passing it to Libya's charge d'affarires in Berne.

Mr. Wild said Miss Lincoln's scatence was correspondingly light. He declined to give details before he had officially been informed that it had come into effect. which was not likley to be until next week.

"This whole affair has been blown up beyond belief by the Swiss media, be said.

The Swiss justice ministry has eleared parliamentarians and officials associated with Miss Lincoln of illegal activity. The foreign ministry says the Libyan diplomat involved, Mohammad Abdel Malek, will soon leave the country. permanently.

Police detain Sikh militants

NEW DELHI (R) - At least 100 Sikh political leaders and party workers in the North Indian state of Punjab were detained Saturday before a planned protest blockade of roads by militants on Monday.

Police in the Sikh holy city of Amritsar said they held about 100 people under preventive detention orders.

The Press Trust of India (PTI) said a number of regional Akali Dal Party leaders and promineot workers were arrested.

The planned protest is part of a fresh campaign led by Akali Dal militants seeking to win religious and political concessions from the Indian government.

Judge agrees Saudi sheikh should be sued has told the 24-year-old Belgian-born wife of a Saudi sheikh she could go ahead and sue her busband for $500 million if he failed to meet certain conditions.

Al-Fassi bad sought a $500 million default judgement claiming Sheikb Mihammad Al Fassi was flouting court dignity by refusing to give a court-ordered dep-

Superior Court Judge Robert Fainer said be would consider rescinding his go-ahead order to Sheikba Dena if the sheikh appeared in New York by May 9 to give a deposition to his wife's lawyers and also made immediate arrangements for his wife to visit her children at a U.S. resort outside

Sheikha Dena filed in January. 1982, for a legal separation and half the value of the couple's community property, estimated by her to be worth $6 billion. She also sought custody of ber four chikiren.

Quake-hit Colombian city looks for victims

rists and troops joined rescue teams looking for more victims in the earthquake-devastated Andean city of Popayan where officials fear 500 people may have died.

Many Roman Catholic worshippers attending morning mass at the start of Easter week celebrations were killed when the roof of the city's cathedral collapsed on them.

More than half of Popayan, in southwest Colombia, was wrecked or damaged in the biggest quake to hit the old Spanish colonial city for 400 years.

Officials said several nearby towns were battered by Thursday's quake, which registered seven on a 12-degree scale of intensity. In one town, Cagibio. with a population of 15,000, only 10 per cent of the huildings were reported to be still standing.

Colombia's civil defence chief, Carlos Matinez Saenz, toured the shattered streets of Popayan and said the death toll could climb to 500 with up to 2,000 injured. As he spoke, rescue teams and volunteers tore at piles of smashed masonry with their bare hands.

A Red Cross spokesman gave a lower casualty estimate - 400 dead and 1,200 mjured.

Authorities, fearing an outbreak of disease in the city of 138,000 people, stepped up a vaccination programme after the quake ripped open part of the cemetery, sending coffins and

CAPE CANAVERAL, Florida

(R) - The space shuttle Challenger is set to lift off on its much-delayed maiden voyage on Monday, carrying a delicate cargo on a five-day mission that should also include the first shuttle spa-

National Aeronautics and

Space Administration (NASA)

officials said the countdown was continuing smoothly towards the sixth launch of the $12-billion shuttle programme, and weather was the main variable that could

"It looks like everything is going just fine, preparations are going ahead as planned," a NASA

The discovery of cracks in Cha-llenger's main engines, and a launchpad storm which covered the vessel and its cargo with dust-

like debris, added more than two months of repair and cleanup

work to an already tight schedule.

and landing, the major goals of the four-man crew are to eject a big telecommunications satellite from the orbiting Challenger's cargo hold, and to test two multi-

Challenger will also carry experimental packages -- some controlled by the astronauts and others self-contained -- that will test

the effect of a gravity-free env-plants, snow and material pro-

Only one member of the crew

million-dollar spacesuits

Apart from successful lift-off cause problems.

spokeswoman said.

BOGOTA (R) -- Children, tou- human remains tumbling among the ruins.

President Belisario Betancur and members of his cabinet attended the funeral Friday of about

Hundreds of people spent their lifting emergency aid to the quake victims. Officials said tons of food, medicine and blankets would be flown to Popavan Saturday.

U.S. repouds quickly

the quake victims.

retired navy captain, served as

Mexican President Miguel de la Madrid also pledged aid.

Burglar out of luck

out to be a hoax.

NEWS

BRIEF

LONDON (R) — Callers jameled

the switchboard at Nottingham's

Trent Bridge cricket ground after

England test star Derek Randall asked if anyone wanted a baby

kangaroo. Randall told local radio listeners that the marsopial, a gift from a cricket club in Penth, Australia, was wrecking his home. The appeal turned out to be one of the April fool's day pranks that caught thousands of Britons on the hop

Friday. Golf club steward Ken

Lawrence and his wife Betty of Taunton, Somerset, opened their local newspaper to find their jobs advertised. And a counic from Rotherham, Yorkshire, gor an even bigger surprise when they opened theirs to find a speof ghter's wedding. But the biggest laugh has in Oxfordshire. A whole village rose at dawn to see an air force aerobatic display. It turned photo of their 15-year-old dau-

April 1 in Style

LONDON (R) — Bungling burdar John Markham. 24, got home from rifling a shoe shop to find his haul consisted almost entirely of eft-footed shoes. And police who questioned him about another break-in spotted that one of the shoes he was wearing still had the price tag on a court was told. Markham was so incompetent he cut his hand smashing a car window to steal some clothes and left a trail of blood for police to follow to his home. He was jailed for 17 months after admitting two burglaries, one attempted burglary and two thefts.

Mini creates 'record'

SOUTHAMPTON, England (R) - A policeman saw sparks flyingfrom underneath a mini-car. Stoerammed inside. Loud music and rowdy singing were coming from the pint-sized vehicle which was moving erratically, the policeman said in court. And it looked as if the steering, gears and hrakes were being jointly handled by fourpeople sitting in the front, one of them weighing 114 kilogrammes. he added. Martin Asher, 23, from Southampton, was fined £130 (about $200) for carrying too many passengers and not being in full control of the car.

Frogs delay work

LONDON (R) — Frogs have delayed work on a £4 million (56 million) expansion of a West German car parts factory near Reading, west of London. Naturalists say they will move the colony of froes from marshland adjoing the site to safety in a specially-built pool.

Judge allows actress Mercedes, 2 houses

LOS ANGELES (R) - A judge has ruled that actress Erin Fleming could keep two houses, a Mercedes car and other items alleged to belong to the estate of her late companion, comedian Groucho Marx. Superior Court Judge Jacqueline Weiss said there was evidence that Miss Felming, 42, was a positive influence on Mark in his late years and to hand over the disputed property to the executors of Marx's estate, the Bank of America, would constitute double recovery.

Etna eruption

CATANIA, Sicily (R) - A fiveday eruption on Mount Etna eased Friday but police warned thousands of sightseers there said vapours and small cinders were shooting out of the central cones but the flow of lava down the lower mountain slopes had slowed down or halted. "We have to be prepared for all evenumalities," said Dr. Stefano Sca-mmacca of the Catania prefeture. You never know what Etna is going to do next. But it does seem to be calling a truce in the hos-

ASEAN asks Vietnam to Warsaw threatens to stop killing civilians Situt down artists union

WARSAW (R) - Warsaw ainexplanation of how they were illborities have threatened to close egal or violated the statutes. down the Polish artists union unl-The artists union was suspended ess it retracts resolutions including with all other associations when calls for an amnesty for political martial law was declared in Decprisoners, union sources said. ember 1981 in the face of Sol-They said the union's presidium idarity's growing political chahad been told it must recant docllenge. It was reinstated in April

Common U.S. base, where the ement also begins its nationwide

due to be sited, past Aldermaston holds most of the 90 marches it atomic research centre to the Bur- expects to attract half a million demonstrators.

last year with its existing prethe banned Solidarity trade union and criticise government action The authorities bave closed against other creative unions since down the actors and journalists the military takeover 15 months unions and refused to lift susago.
The sources said the Warsaw pensions on the writers and film makers unions, saying they must Mayor's office sent a letter to the union headquarters Thursday reppurge their leaderships of "antirimanding its board for "activities socialist elements." A union source said the union leadership was due to meet on April 8 and 9 and was unlikely to he willing to accede to the dem-

What do you bid now?

you hold:

you hold:

Q.4-As South, vulnerable,

♦J9 ♥AJ4 ♦J1076 ♦KQ98

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 + Pass 2 + Pass

2 Pass 2 NT Pass

What action do you take?

Q.5 - As South, vulnerable,

↑AJ10 ♥ K762 ♦ Q3 ↑A987

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 4 Pass 1 0 Pass

Q.6-Both vulnerable, as

↑AQ983 ♥AQ5 ♦83 ♣A102

The hidding has proceeded:

Snuth West North East

1 + Pass 3 + Pass

What do you bid now?

What do you bid now?

South you hold:

3 C Pass ?

incompatible with the law and with the union's statutes." It listed eight documents which the authorities wanted the union leadership to recant, but gave no ands of the mayor's office.

GOREN BRIDGE

BANGKOK (R) - Five noncommunist states in South East Asia called on Vietnam Saturday to halt what they described as indiscriminate attacks against Kampuchean civilians on the Thai bor-

PEKING (R) - Cbina Saturday

launched a strong personal attack on French Foreign Minister Claude Cheysson, accusing him of slandering Peking and spreading mischief during his recent South

In a commentary, the official

People's Daily reported Mr. Che-threats from China in the past and as implying this was a reason to

The Communist Party newspaper also criticised the French minister for reported statements giving qualified support for a continuing Vietnamese military role in Kampuchea.

Mr. Cheysson was quoted as telling journalists in Hanoi that his government hoped for the eventual departure of Vietnamese troops from Kampuchea.

continue to mistrust Peking.

East Asian tour.

A statement in Bangkok by the Association of South East Asian Nations (ASEAN), which groups Singapore, Malaysia, Indonesia, the Philippines and Thailand. appealed to the international community to condemn the att-

The five states said they fully backed Thailand's right to selfdefence by wbatever means to safeguard its sovereignty and int-

Vietnamese attacked Tbe Phnom Chat, a major Khmer Rouge guerrilla base near the border with Thailand, on Thursday. Officials said about 33 civilians died in the attack but the final toll would be much higher. Relief workers said 170 people Thailand put the casualties at 300. About 15,000 Rampucheans living there and in nearby settlements fled into Thailand.

Vietnamese troops were involved in the fighting and a similar number were on standby.

scattered Khmer Rouge units, Thai military officials said.

led in a clash with Thai border forces. Both sides have also fought lengthy artillery duels. Thai army chief Gen. Arthit

Kamlang-ek told reporters before visiting the frontier zone 280 kilometres east of Bangkok that the Vietnamese made a fresh but brief incursion Friday night and were chased back into Kampuchea.

International aid workers at the frontier said heavy firing, mainly artillery, could be heard south of had been wounded and Radio Phnom Chat Saturday.

country still to do so.

Thai officials said some 6,000

Vietnamese troops bad gone as far as one kilometre into Thailand on several occasions in persuit of

One Vietnamese soldier was kil-sident said he saw as his last major statutory task, formalised the sep-opposition in the world's most populous Muslim country by preventing it from electioneering on

It legally neutered the Muslim aration of religion and politics.

who was quoted by a Turkish news agency as calling Greek Prime Minister Andreas Papandreou "a very painful problem" said Friday sbe bad been misinterpreted.

Congresswoman Patricia Schroeder, a Colorado Democrat, was quoted as telling the semi-official Anatolian news agency: "I come from the West where we buy lots of horses. I mean he is a real burr under the saddle, a very painful problem."

In a statement released by the U.S. embassy in Athens Friday night, she said: "It is obvious my statements to the press were either misinterpreted or mistranslated in the printed press articles."

Officials of the Greek government, who were due to see Mrs. Schoeder here Saturday, declined to comment on the issue.

Suharto makes sure life after his retirement will be secure which sources close to the pre-

By Peter Griffiths Reuter

JAKARTA - Indonesia's President Subarto, who came to power on the failure of a communist coup in 1965, has taken preliminary measures to ensure a smooth transfer of power on his retirement.

When re-elected unopposed last month for a fourth consecutive five-year term as president, the 62-year-old general hinted that it would be his last.

The "smiling general", as he likes to be known, said it was almost time for his "1945 generation", which fought the war of independence against the Dutch.

to step down. The people's consultative congress, which meets every five years to elect the president, ratified at the same time two changes in state policy which Gen. Suharto regards as preconditions for an orderly transfer of power.

Adam Malik replaced The other change established religious grounds.

the inviolability of Indonesia's 1945 constitution, of which Gen. Suharto has become the undisputed champion. Gen. Suharto also defied the tradition of having a civilian vicepresident from an outer island by replacing the outspoken Adam Malik, a Sumatran, with a loyal but almost unknown retired general from West Java.

Unlike Mr. Malik, the vicepresident, Umar Wirabadikusumah, would be acceptable to the all-powerful armed as Gen. Suharto's real successor. There was no indication who would eventually follow Gen.

Subarto, but Gen. Umar was seen as a potential interim bead of state, who could guarantee a smooth transition of power if the president steps down before the next election in 1988

sible rivals, former Defence Minister and armed forces Chief of Staff Mohammad Jusuf and Information Minister Ali Murtopo. were dropped in a cabinet reshuffle.

2 rivals dropped

Indonesian political commentators believed Gen. Jusuf, the 55-year-old architect of Indonesia's military modernisation, might have shown too much persqual ambition.

"The secret of success in Indonesian politics is a big stick but a The most important change, forces as a possible caretaker lea- low profile. Jusuf seems to have der, although no one regarded him been deliberately over-exposed just prior to the congress session

Western amhassador. Gen. Jusuf was made temporary vice-presidency.

Two men who once looked posdefence posts between two men. Gen. Poniman, aged 56, a former army chief of staff, became defence minister. The job of armed forces commander went to Lt. Gen. "Benny" Murdani, aged 50,. hitherto regarded as a backstage

> As deputy head of state intelligence, Gen. Murdani had acted as Gen. Suharto's personal emissary and troubleshooter. .

The cabinet reshuffle was the most extensive since Gen. Suharto became president. Only eight men kept their original portfolios and the number of full ministers was increased from 24 to 32.

Despite the appearance of new faces and the disappearance of older ones. Gen. Suharto was carto rub the lesson home," said one eful, with one exception, to keep a cadre of American-educated technocrats known irreverently as "the Berkeley maffa" in charge of the troubled oil-dependent eco-

> He said at his swearing-in ceremony that the next few years would be dogged by economic problems. They include the prohability this year of the first trade deficit since 1967, a 1983/84 current account deficit which might be a dangerous build-up of exceed $10 billion, falling reserves | gas inside the volcano. Experts was the most senior. Wijoyo Nitisastro, coordinating minister for the economy, finance and ind-

Wijoyo, the chief architect of Indonesia's modern development. was dropped for personal reasons rather than dissatisfaction with his handling of the economy.

limiting medium-range nuclear missiles. calls his plan, is unacceptable."

medium-range missiles based in Asia.

Pressed to say whether Moscow, would leave the negotiating table

Mr. Gromyko's remarks were apparently aimed at public opinion aircraft in Europe on ground that these could be used in a con-planes each.

2) The U.S. refused to count British and French missiles in the East-West nuclear balance though these were an integral part of NATO. Mr. Gromyko asked whether a missile, if launched, would carry a label saying "I am British" or "I am French. I do not have to be taken into account.

Mr. Gromyko said these missiles were the Soviet defence against Western Europe.

being scrapped.

He implied that Moscow would refrain from countering the U.S.

Asked about Mr. Reagan's description of the Soviet Union in a arks "do not lend authority to U.S. foreign policy.

"You don't conduct affairs with other countries like this," he said.

China raps Cheysson But he was also quoted as saying that France did not want to see them pulled out if this meant that "the unprecedented horrors" committed by the former Khmer Rouge government would be rep-

China supports the efforts of the Khmer Rouge, within the coa-ysson as saying Thailand had faced lition of anti-Vietnamese Kampuchean resistance movements, to force Hanoi to withdraw its tro-Last Wednesday too, the People's Daily, in a thinly-veiled attack on Mr. Cheysson, condemned > belped free Kampuchea from the Khmer Rouge. China has also criticised France for providing aid to Vietnam. It is the only European Community those who said Vietnam had

LOS ANGELES (R) - A judge

Lawyers for Sheikha Dena

California.

The couple married in 1975. The judge, in a written ruling, said the court had already found that the sheigh had acted wilfully and without substantial justification in failing to answer the interrogations.

50 victims in a part of the cem-Britain marks

etery not affected by the quake. The Colombian government Friday launched an emergency plan to restore the city, noted for its churches and monasteries. Popayan, 370 kilometres southwest of Bogota, was flattened by an earthquake in the 16th Century but later rebuilt.

second night sleeping in the open air. Local radio reports said several hospitals were abandoned when they showed signs of cru-Venezuela and Ecuador are air-

WASHINGTON (R) - The United States has airlifted $700,000 worth of emergency supplies to victims of Thursday's earthquake in Popayan, Colombia, U.S. foreign aid director Peter McPherson

In Toronto, meanwhile, the Canadian Red Cross said it was donating $10,000 in cash to aid

Shuttle to lift off Monday

pilot on the second skylab mission in 1973. Air force Col. Karol Bobko, 45, is the pilot. The mission specialists, who will make the three-and-a-half hour spacewalk on their fourth day in orbit, are Story Musgrave. a 47year-old scientist-astronaut who is also a surgeon, and Donald Peterson. 49, a retired air force col-

Unlike Columbia, which proved in its five missions that the reusable spacecraft was durable and flexible. Challenger has no ejection seats. The overall weight has been reduced by about a ton to increase cargo-earrying capability. While deployed two commercial communications satellites last year,

NASA officials have said the deployment and activation of the Tracking and Data Relay Satellite (TDRS) will be a more complex and manual operation. The TDRS is the first of three indentical satellites which will form a system to enable almost continuous contact between mission controllers and spacecraft. Under its current system using ground tracking stations around the world, the spacecraft and the cific periods, limiting transmission of experimental and other data. ironment on development of NASA hopes to have two of the satellites in place and operational for the ninth sbuttle mission. which will carry the Europeanbas space experience. Com-ground are out of touch for spe-mander Paul Weitz, a 50-year-old developed Spacelab project. Congresswoman misinterpreted

ATHENS (R) - A member of the U.S. House of Representatives

head of the state audit board, the post held by Gen. Umar before he was raised from obscurity to the nomv. Gen. Suharto split the powerful > and bigger loan repayments. The technocrat not appointed

But informed sources said Prof.

eases off

tilities just now"